Probe At Mine Begins

BISHOP, Va. (UP)—State and federal mine inspectors moved into this sorrowing coal town today seeking the cause of an earth-jarring explosion that entombed 37 men in an underground labyrinth.

An official of the Pocahontas Fuel Co. which operates the huge, highly mechanized mine on the West Virginia border, said it had been determined that a gas explosion killed the men early Monday.

"We know that," W. A. Fullerton, special assistant to the president, said. "But how it happened or what caused it we don't know yet. Maybe we'll never know."

Rescue crews located the bodies of the victims after searching most of the day through smoke and gas in the debis-choked tunnels and Monday night brought the corpses on a "death train" to the waiting relatives.

The crew used gas masks and oxygen tanks in their search and in bringing the 11-car, narrow-gauge train through five miles of winding dark tunnels to the surface.

"Some of the men were killed by the force of the explosion," Fullerton said. "Some were buried under slate rock and some died of asphyxiation."

300 Feet Down

The ill-fated members of the "graveyard" shift had been working 300 feet beneath a shaft entrance which the explosion wrecked and blocked in addition to shattering windows of buildings above the ground.

The 140 other men in the mine had to scramble to safety through the "driftmouth," a second entrance used by the mine railroad.

By the time the train surfaced some 100 persons, including a number of the victim's total of 151 dependents, had gathered around six burlap-covered tables that had been set up to receive the bodies.

Afterward, a fleet of ambulances and hearses moved the victims to various funeral homes in the area. Their relatives and friends filed back to their homes in the little coal mining village.

Four Youths Are Hurt in Crash On Webster Road

Four youths were injured, one hospitalized, following a three-vehicle accident on Monessen-Webster road about 8:45 last night, State Police reported today.

Injured were Robert Pascoe, 20, of 336 Speer street, Belle Vernon, neck injuries, admitted to Charleroi-Monessen Hospital; Charles DeNoble, 18, of Sutersville, abdomen injuries; Regis Spaniel, 20, of Sutersville, lacerations of scalp, and Emil Panzo, 18, of 514 Grant street, Belle Vernon, neck injuries. The latter three were treated at the hospital and released.

According to police, a truck driven by James Pascoe, of Pittsburgh, no relation to the injured Pascoe, was unable to stop his pickup truck and struck the rear of the car driven by the other Pascoe. The force of the crash sent the Pascoe car into a machine operated by Fred Rook, Jr., of Webster.

In another accident yesterday, Fireman D. Kinkle, of Bellaire, O., was treated at Charleroi-Monessen Hospital for minor lacerations when his car struck the rear of a car driven by Curtice A. Lehman, of Dunbar, in Centerville.

Troopers said Lehman's car was pushed by the collision against the rear of a car owned by Frank Mace, of R. D. 1, Daisytown.

Court Must Name Mayor

GREENSBURG, Pa. (UP) — The Westmoreland County Court was left today with the task of appointing a mayor for the city of Greensburg.

Under the law, City Council has until Wednesday to name a successor to the late Mayor Robert L. Potts, who died Jan. 7. But it gave up after being unable to agree on a new mayor.

Acting Mayor Percy R. Shuetz, a Republican, and Councilman Joseph Rush, a Democrat, were nominated for mayor in Council, but neither received a majority as the remaining councilmen split, 2-2, along party lines.

Charleroi Woman Reported Missing

Police still are searching for Mrs. Anna Boothe, 42, of 700½ Lookout avenue, Charleroi, who has been missing from her home since Saturday.

She was reported missing by her daughter, Francine Boggs, same address. The daughter told police her mother has been ill and was to be confined to her home.

When last seen, she was wearing a pink coat, black dress, blue sweater and matching black purse and shoes.

Supreme Soviet Plans For Major Debate on Its Foreign Policies

MOSCOW (UP) — The Supreme Soviet agreed today to a major debate on Soviet foreign policy at its first session since the upheavals in Poland and Hungary.

Top leaders of the government and party, with one exception, were on hand for the opening meetings of both houses of the Supreme Soviet. The exception was Defense Minister Marshal Georgi Zhukov who is touring India.

Deputy Premier Lazar Kaganovich and Georgi Malenkov, and Foreign Minister Dmitri T. Shepilov, whose health has been the subject of considerable rumors in the West, attended the meetings. Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist Party Secretary Nikita S. Khrushchev also were present along with other prominent party and government officials.

The two chambers met separately and adopted identical agendas, including "questions affecting the international situation and the foreign policy of the Soviet Union."

The first item to be considered is an amended five-year plan and the 1957 state budget.

More than 350 deputies were on hand when the council of nationalities convened in the marbled St. Andrews hall in the Kremlin this morning.

Four members of the presidium —Premier Nikolai Bulganin, President Klimenti E. Voroshilov, First Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan and Foreign Minister Dmitri T. Shepilov—sat conspicuously in the front of the hall.

The Supreme Soviet Council of the Union—the "upper house"—met at 1 p.m. Those present included Soviet Communist Party Leader Nikita S. Khrushchev, Deputy Premier Lazar M. Kaganovich, former Premier Georgi Malenkov. Former Premier Vyacheslav M. Molotov and other Soviet leaders.

(A report published in the United States Monday said Kaganovich had been shot in a Kremlin struggle for power and was gravely wounded.)

Western observers were looking to the session to clear up several

Dulles Hoping Israel Will Pull Out of Gaza

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today he has good grounds to hope Israel will comply with a United Nations resolution calling for speedy withdrawal from the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba.

At his first news conference since Dec. 18, Dulles said the United States is not thinking of supporting sanctions against Israel. He said this government now is thinking only that Israel will comply with the U.N. resolution approved overwhelmingly last weekend.

Dulles was asked by a reporter whether the United States would "go to the protection of Israel" in the event of aggression even if this meant risking war with the Soviet Union. Without mentioning Israel directly, Dulles replied that the overall American policy is not to be deterred by fear of what the Soviet Union might do in any particular case.

Dulles said he did not think the United States has repeatedly faced up to situations involving Soviet threats. He said this is the proper course to pursue.

At his 40-minute news conference, Dulles also:

1. Said he has no plans now to resign or retire as secretary of state. He defended the administration's policies in the Middle East as honorable and predicted history would justify this estimate. He said it was heartwarming to hear President Eisenhower

Medical Staff At Brownsville Agree with Blast

BROWNSVILLE, Pa. (UP) — Medical staff members at Brownsville General Hospital said today they agreed substantially with an editorial in the current bulletin of the Allegheny County Medical Society which accused the United Mine Workers Welfare Fund of "infiltrating" the institution.

However, the doctors maintained they had not surrendered complete control. Hospital superintendent Clark Brown declined comment.

The doctors, asking their identities be withheld, said the UMW agency made many promises to the hospital on condition that fund-approved doctors be admitted to full-membership on the staff.

Staff doctors issued the statement after reading the editorial signed by Dr. William Barrett.

According to the staff doctors, the hospital board of directors accepted the UMW offer six months ago and ordered the medical staff to admit the UMW-recommended doctors. Dr. S. W. Huston, the only medical man on the board, resigned in protest.

At least 10 MW-approved doctors have been admitted to the staff since the ultimatum. Four are listed as consultants, one as an associate and five on a courtesy basis. The full-time staff has 12 doctors.

State Expenditures to Top $2 Billion When Highway Program Is Presented

(Additional budget stories on Pages 3, 20, 21 and 22)

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader today submitted to the General Assembly a $1,604,338,735 General Fund budget requiring $108,613,231 in new revenue and geared to retention of the 3 per cent sales tax for the last two years of his administration.

The state's projected expenditures for the 1957-59 fiscal period will top the $2,000,000,000 mark however when the governor discloses the fiscal blueprint for Pennsylvania's huge road building program—one of a half dozen special funds which he said he will outline to the Legislature later.

The governor said in his message prepared for delivery before a joint session of the House and Senate after 2 p.m. that his budget earmarks $1,476,849,102 to cover regular state expenditures, including mandated increases made by previous Legislatures.

To that he added $45,247,200 for new programs, the bulk in the form of a teachers' salary increase to which he was morally committed by legislative action last year, to bring overall recommended appropriations to $1,522,096,302. Finally, he put the anticipated deficit when the current biennium ends next May 31 at $82,242,433.

That brought the overall revenue needs to balance the General Fund budget to the $1,604,338,735 mark. The full budget will easily go over the $2-billion mark with the addition of the special funds, although no estimates were available at this time.

The Motor License Fund alone reached the $494,000,000 level in the current biennium and may be increased to meet additional state financial requirements under the new federal highway program. Other special funds total about $15,000,000.

Leader directly endorsed the tax package outlined recently by his special bipartian Tax Policy Advisory Committee, if the lawmakers decide to use it as a basis for the additional funds needed by the Commonwealth.

But he left the door open for "any other good program" as long as it "will support the services to which the state is committed, be fair to the people oft his state, contain a basic measure of adjustment to the inflationary economy in which we live, and be stimulating to the economic development of Pennsylvania."

Proposed Fewer Exemptions

The committee, composed of management, labor and government representatives, recommended continuation of the sales tax at its current 3 per cent level, removal of clothing and trade-ins from the list of exemptions and imposition of a one-cent a bottle "pop" tax.

The governor's approach to the new Republican-dominated Legislature was completely conciliatory in tone in contrast to the "hard, savage fight" he envisioned in his first budget address, delivered early in his administration.

He said he would also urge Democratic lawmakers to put par-

Here Is How Leader Would Spend Money

HARRISBURG (UP)—Here is how Gov. George M. Leader would spend $45,247,200 for the new programs and expansion of services he outlined to the 1957 Legislature today:

1. $33,547,200 to reimburse school districts for teachers' salary increases approved by the last session.

2. Approximately $5,600,000 as the state's expected share of social security payments to its own employes and to public school employes throughout the state under the program to bring them in the federal system.

3. $3,100,000 to make Philadelphia eligible, as are other communities, for state reimbursement for a portion of its public health costs.

4. $3,000,000 for state aid in the development and improvement of airports in DuBois, Erie, Williamsport; Wilkes - Barre — Scranton, Greater Pittsburgh, Reading, St. Marys, Philadelphia, Bradford, Allentown-Bethlehem - Easton, York and Pottsville.

Series of Ads On Sales Tax In Newspapers

HARRISBURG (UP)—The first in a series of newspaper advertisements alerting business firms to their responsibility in filing annual returns under the 3 per cent sales tax will appear this week in some 300 daily and weekly papers.

State Revenue Secretary Gerald A. Gleeson said the ads point out "clearly and precisely" what each person selling or leasing taxable property must do before submitting his return by the Feb. 28 deadline.

"We are particularly concerned with those individuals who have not yet obtained a license as required by law to collect the sales tax. These non-filers may avoid substantial penalties by registering and paying all tax due," he said.

Parked Car Is Damaged Here

A parked car was damaged on Schoonmaker avenue between Fourth and Fifth streets late last night, Monessen police reported today.

According to reports, Albert Vivio, of 1407 Walnut street, told police his car was parked when it was struck by a machine operated by Irwin Borof, of 474 Donner avenue. Vivio said the entire right side of his car was damaged.

Slum Clearance, Industrial Aid Is Earmarked

HARRISBURG (UP) — Maintenance of the present level of state aid for local industrial development and slum clearance programs is one of the key points of the state administration's plans for the next two years.

Gov. George M. Leader recommended today that the Legislature again earmark $5,000,000 for the state Industrial Development Authority and for assistance in slum clearance and urban redevelopment.

The proposed budget for the 1957-59 fiscal period also would increase allocations for continuance of construction of the Independence Mall and Point Park projects in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

The $600,000 appropriation granted for the Independence Mall project for the current two year period would be increased to $1,050,000 while the present $500,000 for Point Park would be upped to $1,196,000.

Leader said the proposed appropriations were all the Commonwealth could afford currently and suggested that if greater speed in completion of the two projects were desired, the Legislature consider financing them under the General State Authority program.

$26,740 Awarded To Widow of Pricedale Man

GREENSBURG, Pa. (UP) — A Westmoreland County jury today ordered the slayer of a Pricedale hotel owner to pay his victim's widow $26,740 in damages.

The damages were awarded Mrs. Thelma Ermlich in the first "wrongful death" case believed ever tried in Westmoreland County Court.

The jury ordered Charles Scaloczi, formerly of Pricedale and now an inmate of Farview State Hospital for the Criminally Insane, to pay the widow $7,740 as trustee of the estate of her husband. William F. Ermlich, and an additional $19,000 for her three minor children.

Scaloczi was convicted for the fatal shooting of Ermlich on Jan. 6, 1955. Scaloczi killed Ermlich when he went to his room to determine why he had not reported for work in the Hillcrest Hotel bar where he was employed.

Mrs. Ermlich has since remarried.

John Dankosky Is Named Fire Coordinator at Pittsburgh Steel

John Dankosky, of 1008 Wilson avenue, Monessen, has been appointed new coordinator of fire prevention of Pittsburgh Steel Co., it was announced today.

His appointment was announced jointly by P. E. Sance, vice president of operations, and Robert E. Lauterbach, secretary of the company.

Dankosky is a veteran of more than 35 years in the steel industry as well as in fire prevention work.

Dankosky's headquarters will be in Monessen, from which he will administer fire prevention programs at all Pittsburgh Steel plant locations — Monessen and Allenport, Warren and Okron, O.; Worcester, Mass.; Los Angeles, Calif., and the central office in Pittsburgh.

Dankosky's association with Pittsburgh Steel Co. began in 1922, two years before he entered fire prevention work. His first job at Pittsburgh Steel was in the tube division. Later, he transferred to the plant protection department. Since 1951, Dankosky has been assistant supervisor of the safety

Pittsburgh Girl Found After Intensive Search

PITTSBURGH (UP)—A nine-year-old girl was found Monday night about three hours after her disappearance touched off an intense block-by-block search by more than 100 policemen.

Mary Haas, blonde, blue-eyed daughter of a city bus driver, told police a man forced her into his automobile as she was returning home from a neighborhood candy store.

She said the man blindfolded her and after riding a while took her into a building where he attempted to molest her. She said she was taken back in the car and let out about five blocks from her home in the city's Homewood section.

Detective Superintendent Adam Geisler said there were indications the girl was molested but not that she was criminally assaulted.

The girl was detained overnight in Pittsburgh Hospital for observation.

Mrs. Viola Randolph, who found the girl, said she watched a news telecast on which the child's mother made an appeal for assistance in finding her. She went out on her porch and saw the girl, frightened and crying, running in the street. She took the child in and called police.

Detective William Gallagher, 57, who took part in the search, suffered a heart attack and was taken to Pittsburgh Hospital. A spokesman said today he spent a restful night and his condition was good.

Communists in U. S. Are in 'Sad Shape'

The Communist Party of the United States holds a convention this coming weekend, its first in six years. The American Communist group was never in sadder shape.

Reveals Plot of Students to Take East Germany

BERLIN (UP)—East German Communist leader Walter Ulbricht said in a speech released today the government had foiled a plot by East Berlin university students to overthrow the Soviet Zone government last November.

Ulbricht told a Central Committee meeting that students at Humboldt University who sympathized with the Hungarian rebels planned "to go out into the streets" and begin "actions in Berlin."

He said oly the vigilance of the Communist Party, the workers militia and other paramilitary groups made the students and the counter revolutionary groups drop their plans.

Ulbricht said the counter-revolutionaries were led by Wolfgang Harich, 32-year-old lecturer on Marxism at Humboldt University. Harich and three of his followers were arrested Nov. 29 on charges they plotted to overthrow the government.

Ulbricht told the Central Committee Harich plotted to "eradicate the leadership" of the Communist Party and "sever the ties of the German Democratic Republic to the Soviet Union."

White Citizens Council Rumored In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — Rep. Earl Chudoff, (D-Pa.) of Philadelphia, said Monday that the Justice Department was investigating reports of the forming of a Philadelphia chapter of the Seaboard White Citizen's Council.

Chudoff said he has forwarded information about the pro-segregation group's alleged local activities to the department. He said the department informed him that it "will investigate on all information received."

The council figured prominently in the school integration issues in the South. John F. Kasper, of Washington, D. C., its executive secretary, currently is under $10,000 bond pending an appeal of a contempt of court conviction in Knoxville, Tenn.

Kasper was charged with violating a federal court order against interference with integration of the Clinton, Tenn., high school.

Two Unions Facing AFL-CIO Suspensions

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UP) — The AFL-CIO Executive Council decides today whether a last-minute house - cleaning by two unions charged with mishandling of welfare funds should save them from suspension.

Representatives of a third big international union, the Allied Industrial Workers, accused of similar wrong doing, were also to go before the council to plead their case.

Charles Naddeo, executive - secretary of a Philadelphia Can Workers local who was expelled by the council last week along with the local's other officers for abuse of union funds, was to be given a hearing by the council today.

The council, headed by AFL-CIO President George Meany, spent more than five hours Monday hearing from officials and legal counsels for the Laundry Workers International and the Distillery, Rectifying and Wine Workers International.

Meany said the council would hear from all three unions before deciding whether to suspend them, put them in a receivership, or give them a limited amount of time to clean house.

The AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee found the unions guilty of failing to take action to clean up their affairs following a Senate subcommittee investigation two years ago in which the unions were accused of corrupt practices.

Meany had hoped to wind up the Executive Council's mid - winter conference today, but said there were still several important items on the agenda to be taken up after the charges against the three international unions and Naddeo's hearing. He said the conference, which began Jan. 28, probably will not end until Wednesday.

Local Churches to Combine For Services During Lent

Three churches in Fayette City, Church of Christ, Presbyterian and Methodist, will combine efforts for Sunday night service during the Lenten season.

The three ministers, Mr. John Bowers, the Rev. D. Earl Daniel and the Rev. Harry W. Beveridge, have met and arranged the following program.

March 10 and 17, union services will be held in the Church of Christ. Mr. Bowers will preside and the two other pastors will be the speaker for one of the services.

On March 24 and 31, Rev. Daniel will be host pastor in the Presbyterian Church with Mr. Beveridge and Mr. Bower each being the speaker. On April 7 and 14, the services will be held in the Methodist Church. Mr. Beveridge will preside and Mr. Daniel and Mr. Bowers, speakers.

During Holy Week these three churches will be joined in the services by the Reorganized Church of Latter Day Saints, where the services will be held on Monday, April 15. Tuesday's service will be at the Presbyterian Church; Wednesday, Church of Christ and on Thursday evening, communion services will be held in each of the churches with the church pastor presiding in his own church.

Special addition services during Lent will include the opening on Ash Wednesday, March 6 in the Methodist Church. Observance of World Day of Prayer, also in the Methodist Church, will be under the sponsorship of the Womans Society for Christian Service on Friday evening, March 8.

Closing the Lenten season will be the annual Good Friday three-hour service.

Keith Stark, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Stark, of Connellsville street, Fayette City, has resumed his studies at Pennsylvania State University, after spending the midterm vacation at his home.

William Dwyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Dwyer, Sr., of North High street, Fayette City, returned to Oxford, O., Monday to resume classes in his second semester as a freshman at Miami University.

With the Kessamin reducing plan the only thing you can lose is weight!

*LOSE A POUND A DAY... FOR 14 DAYS Without Suffering Hunger Pangs Or Loss Of Energy!

To reduce we must eat less (fewer calories) and when we do, we may feel the uncomfortable, almost painful pangs of hunger. We may also become nervous and irritable because of the lack of sufficient vitamins and minerals in a restricted diet. With Kessamin Tablets, Formula #14, and the Kessamin Reducing Plan this can never happen!

SEE WHAT THE KESSAMIN REDUCING PLAN OFFERS!

1. A reducing diet (The Kessamin Booklet) prepared by a physician and a dietician to give best possible diet.
2. Vitamins to prevent deficiencies which cause nervousness, irritability and that tired, dragged-out feeling. Also supplemental minerals and iron to help prevent nutritional anemia.
3. Vitamins plus the bulk, Carboxy Methylcellulose, to stimulate normal intestinal elimination.
4. The "hunger control" factor, Carboxy Methylcellulose, to reduce hunger if taken according to directions.

To Give TV Rest, Turn to Books, Radio

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP) — My TV set conked out last week. My repairman conked out, too. I read books. It's a real sneaky feeling.

As a TV columnist, it is my curious duty to peer at my magic picture machine some 25 or 30 hours each week. More, if the jellies of my mind will stand it.

Under the confines of such a schedule, it is hard to concentrate on any reading matter stronger than the labels on no-return beer bottles. However, after much practice, I did develop a sort of method for reading while my set was on.

I read during station breaks and commercials.

The best commercials to read by, I discovered, were those for asbestos roofing, hair restoration and tired blood. (My hair and roofing are shot and my blood is exhausted. I like it that way).

Episodes in which machines shave fruit are also dandy. So are those in which ladies in gold lame cocktail gowns scour dirty pots.

Best Station Breaks

Station breaks are pretty much touch and go. Generally, I have found that the best ones (by which I mean the longest ones) are on display in the spot just before a spectacular goes on.

There, are, of course, limitations to such a program. It took me two months to get through a poem by Nick Kenny and six months to work through the first chapter of a biography of Conrad Hilton which I had foolishly filched from a hotel in Chicago. Crime doesn't pay.

In addition, it must be admitted, there are also some programs that impinge only slightly upon the consciousness. I call these programs to read by. Even so, reading matter in this category must be confined to the lightest sort.

Under this expanded program, I plished off "Diseases of the Horse", "A Brief History of Yogurt Making in America" and "The Best of Playboy", edited by Jayne Mansfield.

That, then, was the situation until the innards of my TV machine became ulcerated.

At first, I must confess, I felt a little lonely. I snapped the machine on and off a couple of times and whispered encouragingly in its horizontal hold. No go. Desolation.

But then my hand drifted lingeringly over a package of shredded wheat and I fell captive. I read all six sides.

Enthralled, I quickly raced through a recipe for making perfect spaghetti sauce, a postcard from a same-day cleaner, the dust jacket for Mickey Spillane's "Kiss Me Deadly", and a set of instructions for putting together a do-it-yourself spice shelf.

I advanced, galloping through a monograph on ballooning, a novel by Thomas Love Peacock, my bank statement, a study of marital customs in New Guinea and "War and Peace".

The hours flicked by. And the days. I reeled. Heady with freedom, I tackled Kant's "Critique of Pure Reason", a study of Proust by Samuel Beckett, a study of Samuel Beckett by Proust, and the collected works of Bulwer-Lytton in 37 volumes.

I was enmeshed in Volume 24 when the repairman came. He insisted.

Future Weathermen Helped by Research

Weathermen in the future will be able to predict more accurately when snow might be expected to fall and also the type of snow that will fall.

Research conducted at the Pennsylvania State University by Dr. Charles L. Hosler, professor of meteorology, is concerned with the effects that vapor pressures as well as temperatures have on the formation of snow in the clouds.

In laboratory experiments, Dr. Hosler has determined the limiting conditions of temperature and vapor pressure under which ice crystals in clouds will stick to one another on contact.

His experiments show that at ice saturation, ice crystals will aggrgate at temperatures between zero and minus 25 degrees C. At water saturation, ice crystals were observed to form aggregates at all temperatures between zero and minus 40 degrees C., where as in a dry environment, the ice crystals stick only at temperatures begrees C.

More accurate predictions on snowfalls and the type of fall that might be exptcted will be helpful to industry, transportation companies, highway maintenance personnel, winter resort operators and others.

Small boys who like to make snowballs or snow men also will be concerned about the type of snow, as well as the older folks who prefer the dry, easier-to-shovel variety.

Protest Sale Of Delinquent Tax Property

Fayette County Judge Eustace J. Bane has set Feb. 15 as the date for hearing of exceptions to a sale of delinquent tax property.

Attorney Joseph Rygiel represents the heirs of the estate of Michael and Mary Yetsconish, of Fayette City.

It is contended that only one of the heirs was notified of the tax sale and the others were unaware of the sale of taxes for 1953 and 1954.

One of the properties was sold to Willis Barnes, of Brownsville, for $115.85 and the other to Mary L. Ferrari, of Belle Vernon, for $225.

The heirs are Mrs. Susanna Kasheba, of Pontiac, Mich.; George and Mike Yetsconish and Mrs. Anna Martin.

Post Office Blames Delay in P&LE Cancellation

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Post Office Department contended today that it was forced to cancel its $250,000-a-year mail contract with the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad because of delivery delay.

P&LE President John W. Barriger had complained to postal officials that switch of the contract to highway carriers had made necessary cancellation of two passenger trains between Pittsburgh and Youngstown, Ohio.

In a reply, Asst. Postmaster Gen. E. George Siedle said

"The mail traffic between Pittsburgh and Cleveland is being lost through your company's own choice."

The postal official said an investigation of complaints of delayed mail deliveries showed "rail passenger train schedules were the cause."

He said the Post Office was unable to get next-day deliveries of the mail because trains either left too early or too late. The Post Office Department, he said, has the responsibility of giving "the American people the best possible service at the most reasonable cost."

Here Are Some News Tips That Will Make Headlines

United Press correspondents around the world look ahead at the news that will make the headlines.

Civil Defense Shift

Val Peterson is on his way out as federal Civil Defense administrator, Washington reports. He has an attractive offer for a non-government job. He has submitted his resignation to the White House. But President Eisenhower has asked him to remain until a successor can be found.

AMM Versus ICBM

Things are getting complicated in the missile field. You can look out now for the anti-missile missile (AMM). Experts believe it may catch up with the intercontinental ballistic missile. A host of bugs in the ICBM must be exterminated before it can join the arsenal as a dependable weapon. By that time, scientists — particularly those working with superfast electronic computers — may have perfected an anti-missile missle capable of countering the ICBM It would be a sensational technological feat. But experts say it's neither impossible nor necessarily improbable

Clouds Over NATO

Administration officials are worried over the future of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The reasons: (1) Britain is determined to cut defense spending. London says two of the four British divisions in Germany probably will be pulled out soon. (2) Germany's rearmament is lagging and a bitter political campaign is shaping up. (3) France already has withdrawn most of its NATO troops for service in Algeria. Paris says it may ask Washington for aid in guided missiles so that the army can be further reduced.

Ready All Pitchforks!

Watch for a new farm battle. Farm congressmen, from areas outside the Midwest corn belt are plotting to revamp the administration's corn bill, figuring it's veto-proof. They want to make it a "catch-all" measure, carrying new benefits and subsidies, which the administration opposes, for growers of other crops.

Peeve

Some congressmen are peeved by one of President Eisenhower's immigration proposals. He has recommended that the attorney general — instead of Congress— be given jurisdiction over hardship cases. The idea is to cut the flood of private bills in which congressmen seek to have hardship cases admitted to the country. Congress, jealous of its prerogatives, is certain to give the measure rough treatment.

The German Campaign

Indications are mounting in Bonn that West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer may be thrown out after the parliamentary election, which is to be held next September. The Free Democrats, long allied with Adenauer's Christian Democrats, are expected to hold the balance of power in the new Parliament. Politicians predict they will throw their support to the Socialists and oust the old chancellor That will be more bad news for NATO.

THINGS GOING SWIMMINGLY — The honeymoon is going along swimmingly, this picture of actress Elizabeth Taylor and Mike Todd indicates.

Theodore Heuss to Visit Washington

WASHINGTON (UP)—The White House announced today that President Theodore Heuss of the German federal republic would visit Washington as the guest of President Eisenhower next month.

Heuss will make a three-day visit to Washington, March 6 through March 8. Then he will make a brief tour of the country.

Heuss will be the first German president to visit this country.

Plan Motor Fleet Program

A program for management and supervisory personnel in motor fleets of Southwestern Pennsylvania is being planned by The Pennsylvania State University Center in McKeesport.

Designated "Effective Fleet Operation," the course is intended to further acquaint these persons with proven techniques in safe and efficient operation of the entire fleet.

Course content has been divided into ten parts, including such topics as profit-determining factors, driver selection and training, and accident prevention

Coordinated by Penn State's Institute of Public Safety, the course will feature instructors who are representatives of the motor transportation industry, insurance companies, motor truck associations, and local, state, and other agencies.

Sessions will be held in the Bell Telephone Training Center, Pittsburgh, from 7 to 10 p. m. every Monday The 10-week course begins Feb. 25 and ends April 29.

Further details are available at the Institute of Public Safety, The Pennsylvania State University, University Park, Pa.

Ancient Carillon at Alfred University

ALFRED, N. Y. (UP) — A familiar sight to Alfred University students is an ancient carillon that stands on a hill overlooking the campus.

Each of the 43 bells were cast in Holland—the earliest in 1674 and the most recent in 1953 The largest weighs approximately two tons; the smallest, eight pounds

Alumni and friends purchased and dedicated the Alfred Carillon in 1938 to honor a former president of the University, Boothe Colwell Davis and his wife.

Railroader Had 50-year Record

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UP)—John S Grice may well have set a record when he retired recently as a switchman for the New York Central Railroad.

The 71-year-old signalman spent half a century switching trains without so much as a single rail accident But it took some quick thinking and quicker action to preserve that unblemished record.

Five years ago, Grice bolted down his signal tower stairs and hurled a lantern into the cab of a passenger train which had failed to heed his stop warning His action averted a pile up with a second passenger train

"The engineer gave me a box of cigars for that one," he recalled.

Education in State Is Costly

HARRISBURG (UP)—The high cost of education was reflected in Gov. George M. Leader's budget requests today for $1,476,849,102 in appropriations to cover the regular expenses of state government in the 1957-59 fiscal period.

Education would absorb slightly more than one-half of his planned General Fund outlay.

The largest departmental request was $740,511,372 for the Public Instruction Department. This does not include the $33,547,200 additional which he said in his message should be earmarked to reimburse school districts for salary increases for the state's approximately 65,000 school teachers authorized by the last session.

Here is a summary of the governor's other recommended appropriations for departments and agencies:

Governor's office — $1,565,000; lieutenant governor's office—$50,000; auditor general— $2,750,000; Treasury—$71,836,394; Internal Affairs—$2,600,000; Agriculture—$8,500,000; Banking and Pennsylvania Securities Commission—$215,000; Civil Defense Council—$863,300; Civil Service Commission—$100,000; Commerce— $12,800,000; Forests and Waters — $16,500,000; Health—$54,053,570; Historical and Museum Commission— $1,500,000; Insurance — $2,096,500; Justice—$25,700,000; Labor and Industry—$26,000,000; Military Affairs—$8,045,000; Milk Control Commission—$325,000; Mines and Mineral Industries—$5,900,000.

Parole Board—$2,225,000; Property and Supplies — $54,000,000; Public Assistance — $150,000,000; Public School Building Authority—$650,000; Public Utility Commission — $3,750,000, Revenue — $18,000,000; Department of State—$21,188,180; State Police— $7,009,000; Tax Equalization Board—$625,000; Welfare — $221,100,600; administrative, miscellaneous and commissions — $499,930; Legislature—$6,176,704, and judiciary—$9,722,552.

TV Tower Collapses: Four Die

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UP) — The collapse of a new, 1,200-foot tower of one of the South's most powerful television stations with a loss of four lives puzzled the experts today.

The slender structure for no apparent reason began to snap 300 feet up with a "splintering" noise and "collapsed like an accordion" Monday afternoon, hurling the four workers to their deaths from 700 feet up. There was only a slight wind.

The tower was built for WSM-TV, known as the home of the "Grand Ole Opry," by the General Electric Corp., and was virtually complete but had not been put into use.

The victims were identified as Donald Kinnan, 25, of Tucson, Ariz.; Robert Lee Kirshner, of California, Mo.; Ray H. Maxwell, 27, of Palatka, Fla., and George Treslar, 30, of Memphis, Tenn.

Kenneth Tutor, 28, a steel rigger, said he had just loosened eight of 12 guy wires which balanced the tower upon a tiny bal base because "the wires had been singing in the wind."

The tower began swaying and breaking up at a point where some of the guy wires were attached. The upper portion thundered straight downward. The lower section crashed outward.

Witnesses said that in breaking up, the tower made a "splintering" sound that was louder than the noise it made when it hit the ground.

The falling girders crushed three parked trucks and a car and flying debris damaged three other cars. A 300-foot section skidded down a hill, stopping just short of some homes.

Fashionable women in colonial America protected their complexions from the sun and wind by wearing masks, silk ones in summer and velvet in winter.

Baby Born on British TV

LONDON (UP) —The British Broadcasting Corp. televised the birth of a baby Monday night.

Most viewers agreed it was done with remarkable tact, but the dissenting tabloid Daily Sketch quoted a "father of two" today as saying BBC was turning television "into an ultra-sensational horror comic."

The BBC said early today it had only six telephone calls from the millions who watched the program around their firesides after most children were asleep. Four calls disapproved, two approved.

The birth of the baby came as part of a program in which "natural birth" expert Grantly Dick Read defended his system whereby the mother helps guide the baby into the world—a system opposed by London doctors.

The mother was an unidentified South African who volunteered when the film was made in Johannesburg last year. She agreed to its being shown anywhere in the world except South Africa.

The Daily Sketch was the only newspaper to protest. It carried a headline "Revolting—By A Father Of Two" over a story by Alan Gardner.

"Revolting! Beyond the pale! I condemn the BBC for the worst lapse of taste ever," Gardner was quoted.

"They showed us a baby being born in all its stark, primitive detail. All right. We were adult. So the children were in bed when the program was on.

"But there are some things which should never be shown on television and this was one of them. It sickened me. It sickened my wife.

"I did not see my children born. I didn't want to—though I respect the motives of those men who do.

"But to blazon the moments of childbirth on television screens is to turn television into an ultra-sensational horror comic."

Assembly to Probe Pardons Board

Labor Fund Study Is Approved

HARRISBURG (UP)—The General Assembly has cleared the way for early investigations of the state Pardons Board and administration of a special $1,175,000 fund in the state Labor and Industry Department.

The Senate Monday approved after making revisions a House-sponsored resolution calling on Gov. George M. Leader to submit for possible Dauphin County grand jury action any evidence he may have of "wrongdoing" in the handling of the special fund.

The Senate inserted the phrase "criminal wrongdoing" in the legislation, and it will go back to the House for concurrence.

The Pardons Board inquiry will be made by a legislative committee consisting of three members from each chamber.

The special fund came into the spotlight recently when Leader fired Labor and Industry Secretary John R. Torquato. The governor also suspended 23 persons on the fund payroll, pending "evaluation of their services."

The Pardons Board measure was prompted by the board's recommendation of commutation of sentence for three Philadelphia youths, David Darcy, Harold Foster and Harry Zeitz, sentenced to be executed for the slaying of a bystander during a tavern holdup in Bucks County in 1947.

The resolution says that "the opinion prevails in many quarters that political considerations influenced the action of the Board of Pardons in this and in other recent cases."

Clerk Honored

The House, in a fast-paced 40-minute session, honored its late Chief Clerk William E. Habbyshaw, Hummelstown, who died Sunday.

After unanimously approving a resolution citing the former chief clerk for his "competence, devotion to duty, and genuine affection for every member," the Representatives appointed House Secretary Wilmer W. Waterhouse, of Erie, to take over Habbyshaw's duties until a replacement is named.

Four House Republicans backed a proposal recommending the construction of the proposed Keystone Shortway across the northern part of the state.

Reps. Paige Varner (Clarion), Louis A. Pursley (Union) and William H. Brand and John E. Whittaker, both of Lycoming County, sponsored a resolution which would give the House's endorsement to the construction of the high-speed route from Sharon to Stroudsburg as part of the federal interstate highway system.

Another House measure would officially chide Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson for his recent remark that the National Guard was a haven for draft dodgers during the Korean War.

A resolution introduced by Democrats Francis X. Muldowney (Philadelphia) and Joseph G. Wargo (Lackawanna) pointed out that U.S. Route 322, extending from Chester to the Ohio border, was named the "28th Division Highway" as a tribute to Pennsylvania's National Guard unit. The resolution's sponsors said its passage would "reaffirm faith in the guard for the feeling of security it affords."

And the state would appropriate $25,000 for the maintenance of a memorial in Harris Twp., Centre County, for the division under a bipartisan bill introduced

Hearing on Challenge Of Jurors Is Opened

A court hearing on the challenging of jurors for the February term of Washington County Civil Court opened yesterday.

The hearing before the court en banc was, because of a flood of statistics, nearly immobilized several times by procedural difficulties. However, the bulk of the testimony of the first witness had been given before court recessed at 4 p. m.

The hearing is the result of 97 petitions challenging the array of jurors which were presented to the court last Monday morning, representing approximately half the cases on the civil list scheduled for trial during a four-week period starting Feb. 11.

Representing the "challengers" were the four attorneys who filed the petitions on behalf of the defendants in the 97 cases. They were Francis H Patrono Stephen D. Marriner, Charles G. Sweet and Palmer J McCloskey Jr

Vincent R. Massock and Sanford S. Finder, both of Washington, represent the attorneys for the plaintiffs in the 97 cases in which petitions were filed

The only witness of the day was James H Young, a certified public accountant of Main and Company of Pittsburgh.

Young's firm did the statistical work on which the challenges were presented

Among the highlights of Young's testimony

The jury wheel from which all jurors will be drawn for the four terms of court this year contained 11 duplications of names

Three jurors in the wheel have been drawn for jury service six times since January, 1952.

Of the three, pay records at the courthouse indicate that two of these three have served on juries twice in a single calendar year, one of them in consecutive terms of court in 1954.

Part of the statistical report of Main and Company together with Young's testimony was about the incidence with which a citizen would be called for jury duty if names were picked at random from lists of registered voters According to Young, this system would give jury duty to an individual once each 70 to 80 years.

The court here, however, pointed out that lists of registered voters do not necessarily qualify as "sober, intelligent and judicious." These are legal prerequisites for jurors.

At the start of the hearing, the court overruled, for the time, the preliminary objections of the plaintiffs to enable the hearing to get under way.

Explosions Rock Italian Freighter

NORFOLK, Va. (UP)—Two explosions rocked an Italian freighter in Hampton Roads here today and touched off a fire in the cargo of coal it was carrying

The Coast Guard said two of the six holds of the freighter Emanual V. Parodi of Genoa, Italy, blew up at 5 a m just after loading its holds with cargo and its fuel tanks with oil.

2 There has been no discussion of a Big Three summit meeting of Mr. Eisenhower, British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, and French Premier Guy Mollet. But it would be normal for Mr. Eisenhower to meet separately with the British and French leaders in due course.

3 Congressional delay on the Eisenhower Doctrine has not been serious yet The delay may have weakened the psychological effect somewhat, but everyone recognizes that Congress has not been following dilatory tactics The effect would be more serious if the impression were given that Congress was filibustering against the doctrine.

4 A visit to the United States by Yugoslav Marshal Tito would be useful as a way to exchange views with Mr. Eisenhower Despite vigorous congressional objections which prompted Tito to put off the visit "for the time being", Dulles said he still believes a Tito visit would be useful. He said a date had never been set

5 There is no change whatever in United States diplomatic or trade policies toward Red China He steadfastly refused to budge on the administration's previous policy against letting American newsmen enter Red China.

6. Oil shipments from the United States have been lower than expected, largely because of the reluctance of the Texas railroad commission to cooperate. But he said oil is moving to Europe in substantial quantities. As of now, he said he does not believe the situation calls for an appeal by Mr. Eisenhower for increased shipments.

More Indictments in Spy Case Expected In New York Today.

NEW YORK (UP) —A special federal grand jury resumed deliberations today, indicating that additional indictments would follow those returned Monday against three New Yorkers accused of spying for Russia.

The new indictments presumably would involve a number of unidentified co-conspirators in a vast spy network who the government alleges stole military secrets for Russia while working at American military installations in this country, in Germany and in Austria

The vast scope of the spy ring was disclosed Monday when the grand jury returned espionage indictments against Jock Soble, 53; his wife, Myra, 52, and Jacob Albam, 64 They were indicted under a section of the espionage law that could send all three to the electric chair or to prison for life

Ten Russians Named

Indicted as co-conspirators, but not defendants, were 10 Russians most of them former employes of the Soviet Embassy in Washington. All are now out of this country.

As diplomatic officials, the embassy employes indicted are immune from prosecution. But it was believed that further indictments would involve residents of this country who, like the Sobles and Albam, would be prosecuted on espionage charges.

The indictment dated the conspiracy back to January, 1942, and said it continued to the present date. The Sobles came to the United States from Lithunia by way of Japan in the autumn of 1941; Albam arrived in 1947.

The three are to be arraigned Monday and trial is expected to begin in about two months.

Judge Would Decide

If convicted on the first count of the indictment, the Sobles and Albam could receive the death penalty. This count alleges that the defendants violated peace-time provisions of the espionage law by conspiring to transmit documents, photographs and other date relating to national defense to Soviet agents. Sentencing would rest with a federal judge.

Although the indictments pictured Soble as a master spymaster who held clandestine meetings with Russian agents in the United States, Switzerland, Austria and France, the government said his income and those of his wife and Albam were believed to have been less than that of an automobile mechanic.

So far, the government has declined to reveal the nature of the information which the Sobles, Albam and the co-conspirators handled. It was indicated, however, that the information included highly-classified military secrets apparently stolen by persons not yet indicted

Right to Run For USW Post Argued Today

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The battle waged by Frank W. O'Brien, Hazelwood steelworker for the right to run for a $16,000 union post in next Tuesday's United Steel Workers election came up for final argument today in Common Pleas Court.

O'Brien, a member of USW Local 1843 seeks an injunction to halt the USW Dist. 16 election unless he is certified for a nomination He charges union officials conspired to keep him off the ballot

Judge Henry X O'Brien said he expected to rule on the case by Thursday. Testimony in the dispute ended last Friday.

O'Brien has allied himself with the Dues Protest Committee, a rank-and-file union group supporting Donald C Rarick, of McKeesport, for the USW international presidency against incumbent David J. McDonald. O'Brien contends he received nominations from seven Dist. 16 locals, two more than necessary, whereas union tellers held he received but four.

Meanwhile, McDonald denied weekend allegations by Rarick that McDonald and three other union leaders attempted to persuade him to quit his race for the presidency.

"This man Rarick has a fantastic imagination," McDonald declared in a statement issued at Miami Beach where he is attending an AFL-CIO executive council meeting. McDonald, repeating a previous reply to Rarick, said his opponent spoke a "plain, unmitigated lie."

recent mysteries, including the identity of the unknown official treated by a German blood specialist this week However, an unimpeachable source said the mysterious patient is a second-ranking official, below the top Communist Party hierarchy.

A Russian source told the United Press today's opening session probably would not produce anything noteworthy but that Wednesday's session will be "more interesting." No major government changes were expected.

The opening meeting took only 13 minutes to receive an eight-point agenda from W. Latsin, chairman of the council.

The Council of the Union was scheduled to convene three hours later for about the same time to hear the same agenda.

The agenda includes a foreign policy statement, presumably to be delivered by Shepilov. There was no timetable for its delivery

The two chambers of the Soviet "parliament" will meet in joint session later this afternoon to receive their joint agenda—consideration of the 1957 budget and industrial plan.

(Diplomatic reports in London said a power-struggle is going on among the Kremlin leaders and that the Supreme Soviet's hands will be tied until it is resolved Thus the diplomats did not expect the current session to produce anything of great note)

Denies Reports Of Commutation For Blair Slayer

HARRISBURG (UP)—Attorney General Thomas D. McBride today denied reports that he intends to take any action toward commuting the death sentence of Blair County slayer Glenn A. Leamer to life imprisonment.

McBride said, however, that a legal point arose during the Pardons Board hearing on Jan. 17 which he brought to the attention of the state Supreme Court, the trial judge and district attorney, and defense counsel Richard Carothers. A conference is scheduled Wednesday between McBride, the district attorney and Carothers.

"Whether Leamer may be able to make another appeal for commutation of his sentence on the basis of the legal technicality will be discussed at the meeting," McBride said.

Leamer is slated to die in the electric chair Feb. 11 for the slaying of his grandfather, Samuel J. Leamer, 92, on Nov 2, 1955 The elder Leamer was bludgeoned and choked at his home in Frankstown Twp. Police said the victim was robbed of $17 and his stone-weighted body thrown into an abandoned quarry near Williamsburg

Carothers argued for clemency before the Pardons Board on the ground that Leamer was a mental defective who had an unhappy childhood.

Lawmakers for Changing Setup Of 'Pike Board

HARRISBURG (UP)—Two Republican lawmakers have beaten Gov. George M Leader's administration to the draw in sponsoring legislation to rip out the present Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission setup and replace it with unsalaried members.

Reps Paige Varner (Clarion) and Samuel B Dennison (Jefferson) proposed to replace the Turnpike Commission with administrative and legislative leaders

Leader recently called for a commission of outstanding citizens to operate the state's superhighway system, indicating he preferred persons from outside the political arena The governor's remarks were prompted by the indictment of 23 persons connected with the commission, including 22 on charges of criminal conspiracy in an alleged multi-million dollar swindle of turnpike funds.

Floods Hit Mississippi Area

By UNITED PRESS

A relocation program for flood-plagued Kentuckians was recommended today as many soggy southern lowlanders mopped up and moved back home.

Flood danger along the Tombigbee River in northeast Mississippi and on the Oostanaula in northwest Georgia diminished and weather experts forecast better times unless there is heavy additional rains The Tombigbee was reported falling back into its banks.

In Tennessee bridge washouts and bad road conditions in rural areas forced closing of schools in Sevierville. Buses were discharging passengers at water-weakened bridges in the Newport, Tenn., area.

Weathermen kept close watch on the Mississippi River at points from Caruthersville, Mo., downward along the Tennessee border where crests within a foot or less of flood stage were expected this week.

There was a prospect of some flooding at Paducah, Ky., where the Tennessee empties into the Ohio after its side loop from extreme northeast Tennessee, down through Alabama and back across two states.

Gen. Alfred M Gruenther, president of the American Red Cross, told President Eisenhower in Washington that the disastrous floods in West Virginia, Kentucky and Virginia caused "far greater" damage than had been reported at first.

The Red Cross alone expects to spend more than $2 million in emergency relief for the area First damage estimates ran more than $1 billion

Bloom Calls on Leader to Cut Down Spending

HARRISBURG (UP)—Republican State Chairman George I. Bloom today called on Gov. George M. Leader to order elimination of "all unnecessary and haphazard spending" in his administration.

Bloom commented on the governor's budget message in a statement issued here

"If he puts a stop to this reckless spending now, we are sure he can reduce the deficit for this biennium by millions of dollars," Bloom said. The governor estimated the deficit at $82,242,433

The GOP leader declined to make any statements concerning how much the budget itself could be cut except to say he was "confident it could be substantially reduced" if the administration cooperates with the Republican-controlled Legislature.

Bloom also contended the budget proved that Leader was "intent on making himself the greatest spender in the history of the Commonwealth."

Named to Head Corning Corp.

Personnel Changes Announced

Russell Brittingham, vice president and director of purchases of Crning Glass Works, has been named president of Pittsburgh Corning Corp., it was announced today.

He will succeed H. B. Higgins, who is chairman of the board of Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co.

Pittsburgh Corning Corp., with headquarters in Pittsburgh, manufacturers of glass blocks and Foamglass, is jointly owned by Pittsburgh Plate and Corning Glass Works.

Brittingham has been administrative assistant to the director of research with Corning. In 1954 he was elected vice president and for the past year has been director of purchases.

Wood Is Named

Thomas S. Wood, Jr., has been succeeding Brittingham.

George W. Douglas will replace Wood as manager of the lamp sales department in the electrical products division.

Frederick F. Fleischman, Jr., will succeed Douglas as manager of the lighting sales department in the technical products division.

R. Dale Sweigart will follow Fleischman as field sales manager of the plant equipment sales department in the technical products division.

Wood joined the company's mechanical development department in 1928. He served in various production capacities from 1929 to 1935 when he was named assistant manager of the company's plant at Wellsboro. From 1939 to 1941 he was plant manager at Pressware and for the next two years was assistant sales manager of the electrical products division. He has been manager of the lamp sales department in that division since 1943. Wood was graduated from Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Syracuse Graduate

Douglas became associated with the company in 1944 as a cost estimator in the product engineering department. He joined the lighting sales department in 1945, servicing first the New York City area and then Philadelphia. After returning to Corning in 1953 as a street lighting specialist, he was appointed manager of the lighting sales department in 1954. Douglas was graduated from Syracuse University.

Fleischman joined the plant equipment sales department staff as a sales engineer in 1951 and has been a manager of Cornell University. Fleischman was also awarded a master's degree and a doctorate by that institution. He served in the army from 1943 to 1945.

Sweigart was first associated with the company in 1950 as a sales engineer. Following two years of Navy service, he returned in 1956 as a product specialist in the plant equipment sales department. He had previously been associated with the Lapp Insulator Company of LeRoy, N. Y. and was graduated from the University of Rochester.

Bill Calls for Free Tunnel In Pittsburgh

HARRISBURG (UP)—A bill in the House of Representatives would authorize construction of a toll free tunnel between the Fort Pitt Bridge and the Saw Mill Run interchange of the Parkway-west.

The measure calls for a tunnel from Pittsburgh's West Carson St. where the bridge enters the city over the Monongahela River, some 3,600 feet to a point accessible to the interchange.

The bill, sponsored by Allegheny County Republican Reps. John R. Haudenshield, Edwin C. Ewing, George W. Cooper and Ronald L. Thompson, specifies that the cost of the project be underwritten by the state Highways Department.

Another bill proposes a $3,000,000 bridge over the Clarion River near the Borough of Clarion. It was sponsored by Clarion County Republican Rep. Paige Varner.

Welfare Meeting In Erie County

HARRISBURG (UP) — State Welfare Secretary Harry Shapiro and department members will meet today with some 65 Erie County civic leaders to discuss social welfare needs.

Shapiro will review the Commonwealth's progress in mental health and social welfare services outline future problems and methods to bring closer relationships between state and local agencies. Aslo slated for discussion were local needs and services in the fields of psychiatric clinic services for children, expansion of psychiatric services in general hospitals, problems of the aging, and sheltered workshops for mentally and physically handicapped.

Leader Emphasizes His Hands Are Tied

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader told the General Assembly today that the bulk of the state budgets are "foreordained" by previous commitments and Pennsylvania's chief executives do not have "much room for choice."

Emphasizing that point, the governor said more than 57 cents out of every dollar which the Commonwealth plans to disburse from the General Fund in the 1957-59 fiscal period—or $864,327,794—will be in state aid put on the statute books by previous Legislatures.

"The budget itself is far more than a budget for the operations of the state," he said. "It is as truly a budget for thousands of school districts, Penn State University, 14 state teachers colleges, the 67 counties, the cities, boroughs and townships—large and small—in the Commonwealth."

The governor said is fiscal blueprint also carries a "rigid amount" of $99,915,020 for debt service and authority rentals, or almost seven cents out of every General Fund dollar, and public assistance costs amounting to $150,000,000 for about 10 cents of the dollar.

From the remaining 26 cents, he said, the state must pay over 15 cents for Commonwealth-operated institutions such as mental, correctional, medical and surgical hospitals and tuberculosis sanatoria.

tisan politics aside to "assume their share of responibility for financing the government of their tate."

He again urged the General Assembly to repeal the so-called "nuisance" taxes on business—the excise levy on foreign and domestic corporations and the Corporation Loan Tax—and permit the scheduled manufacturers' exemption from the Capital Stock Tax to take effect as planned at the beginning of 1958.

"We would all like to see...the full strength of this state's magnificent industrial and financial structure aligned solidly with its government in a great drive for economic growth," Leader said.

"A change in tax emphasis, as I have here suggested and as the (tax study) committee unanimously recommended, would be the signal for such an alignment."

Asks No Tax Fight

The governor indicated he had no intention of becoming involved again in any tax fight such as prolonged the 1955 Legislature to a record 17 months and engendered extreme bitterness on both sides of the aisles in that governing body.

"This issue of taxes, if I may venture a political observation to many who are far wiser in politics than I, this issue has been beaten to death in Pennsylvania," he said.

Most of the governor's comments concerning taxes were made at the budget briefing for newsmen at the Executive Mansion Monday afternoon.

The luncheon conference disclosed Leader's policy would be one of cooperation with the Legislature on tax matters. Asked if there were any specific taxes which he would veto, the governor answered:

"I am not going to discuss specific taxes. I am not going to him myself in with a lot of things which would make it impossible for me to work with the Legislature."

The governor said that before the General Fund budget was whipped into shape he cut $175,000,000 from departmental requests. The final version requested $172,677,292 more in appropriations than the 1955-57 budget, but more than $103,656,000 of this money was mandated by previous legislative action. Such mandates include increases in subsidies for education, pure streams, county public health units and occupational disease payments.

Mental Health Services

Another inescapable increase, he said, is a $4,270,000 hike in debt service to bring such state costs to $99,915,020 during the next biennium.

Leader also cited an additional $23,289,383 needed to operate the Welfare Department's Mental health services at an expanded rate for the full 24 months of the biennium; $1,047,646 for a pay increase given judges throughout the state last summer; appropriation hikes totaling $4,430,448 for state - aided universities and $1,434,125 for teachers' colleges.

"This is not a 'fat' budget swollen for bargining with the Legislature or for creating new payroll," the governor said. "I invite the Legislature to go over the budget with a fine-toothed comb. The executive branch will cooperate with a full heart in every honest attempt to reduce the total of our expenditures."

But he served notice he will resist any attempt to cut back two of the programs which his administration backed in its first two years.

Opposes Cutbacks

"I will necessarily oppose any attempt to cut back services vital to the people of our state, particularly in our program for mental health and for the decent care of our retarded children," Leader said.

At one point the governor referred indirectly to the wave of firings and dismissals of high-ranking state officials recently.

"It must seem strange to others that an insistence on high standards should provoke so much startled comment, such wide-eyed astonishment, here in the Capitol of Pennsylvania," he observed.

"It must be that all of us, Democrats and Republicans, have been lax too long over too many years."

He told the lawmakers he plans to support his budget "by an unceasing effort through the next two years to give this state the best government it has yet received."

Union President Welcomes Probe

DETROIT (UP) —Wallice Bodrie, president of United Steel Workers Local 1299, said Monday his local would welcome a congressional investigation of alleged corruption in Detroit-area USW locals.

Bodrie's statement was in answer to charges made by Donald C. Rarick of Pittsburgh last week that some locals in this area are "corrupt and undemocratic." Rarick is opposing USW President David J. McDonald in the union's Feb. 12 election.

New Clues in Chicago Slaying

CHICAGO (UP) — Scientists studied today bits of human hair and flesh and a chalked appeal for help found near a ditch where the nude bodies of two teen-aged sisters were discovered two weeks ago.

The possible new clues in the murder of Patricia Grimes, 13, and her sister, Barbara, 15, were found Monday by police.

The crudely printed appeal for help was scrawled in chalk on a support at the back of an abandoned corrugated metal shack. The message read:

"Help help—help help."

A short time later, searchers found a cardboard box containing locks of human hair, one of them with bits of flesh, wrapped in newspapers. The papers were dated in September and November, 1956.

Crippled Freighter's Danger not Immediate

KEY WEST, Fla. (UP)—A crippled Liberian freighter reported sinking in an earlier distress signal was located after a wide search of the Florida Straits today and reported in no immediate danger.

The U.S. Coast Guard ship Yamacraw and then the USS Blackwood reached the disabled freighter S. S. Nortuna after hours of searching by planes and surface craft.

The 11,600-ton vessel and its 35 crewmen were in no immediate danger but both ships stood by to give any help needed, the Coast Guard said.

The hunt was marked by confusion over the meaning of a garbled distress message which the Coast Guard had picked up Monday night. The ship at first was feared to be sinking.

For hours after that the Navy and Coast Guard lost radio contact with the ship.

The Coast Guard in Miami said its last report from the Nortuna was a garbled distress message radioed in broken English and Spanish at 6:25 p.m. EST.

The operator reported the ship was foundering about 65 miles southwest of Key West with 34 of its crew already in lifeboats, the Coast Guard said.

The seventh district headquarters said it could not confirm a radio message reportedly received by a commercial receiver at Boynton Beach, Fla., that indicated the ship was still afloat at 10 p.m.

Named Solicitors In Washington

Washington County Controller Peter Elish named two county attorneys to act as solicitors for his office.

Named were Arnold Hirsch, of Donora, and Sanford Finder, of Washington. Formerly, William Porter, of Washington, was the office's sole solicitor.

The two new appointees will split the $2,800 yearly salary which formerly went to Porter.

Urge Money to Pay for Fish

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Senate has received a proposal that $43,891 be appropriated to the state Fish Commission as partial reimbursement for the 147,000 trout killed by a pollution of Spring Creek in Centre County last year.

The total cost of the kill, laid to a spill of sodium cyanide from the U. S. Navy research laboratory at Pennsylvania State University, was set at $74,441. Gov. George M. Leader said that since the Navy has accepted responsibility for the accident, the federal government may be asked to contribute part of the cost of replacing the trout.

Apollo Woman Receives Two Threatening Calls

LEECHBURG, Pa. (UP)—Police maintained a round-the-clock check today at the home of an Apollo woman who received two telephone calls threatening her with the same fate that befell a slain Leechburg housewife last week.

Mrs. Helen Bopp, 25, a former Leechburg resident, told police a man telephoned her Monday and warned "You'll get the same dose Mrs. Foster got."

Ms. Emily S. Foster was found dying outside her Leechburg home last Wednesday night. Police are still seeking the identity of the assailant who beat her on the head.

Apollo Police Chief Gus Zanos said the mysterious caller was "deadly serious and not jesting."

Mrs. Bopp and Mrs. Foster's husband, Elman, are employed at the Allegheny Ludlum Steel Corp. here. However, Mrs. Bopp did not know Mrs. Foster.

Police said the only link between Mrs. Bopp and the dead woman was a mutual acquaintance, Miss Ann Doyle, who lived next door to the Fosters.

Band Parents Meet; Plan for Activities

A report on the current membership drive and plans for future activities highlighted last night's meeting of the Monessen Band and Orchestra Parents Association held in the High School.

Before the session Veronica Yursco entertained with a piano solo and Charles Winfield with a trumpet solo.

Mrs. Michael Kunsa, president, was in charge and reports were given by Mrs. Einar Ruokonen, secretary and Mrs. Andrew Hrivnak, treasurer.

Mrs. Thomas Hawkins reported on the membership campaign, which is progressing favorably. The goal is to enroll every parent of a band or orchestra member in the organization.

The association also set forth the following aims, to promote welfare of band and orchestra members, to bring about a closer relationship between the band and orchestra members, the directors, the parents and the school and to further the appreciation of band and orchestra music.

Among projects planned is the serving of hot chocolate to band members at football games and parades: The members hope to promote a spring banquet for the musicians.

The organization will also offer support to any project undertaken by the School Board for the students.

Mrs. Arthur Lapinmaki, co-chairman of the ways and means committee, reported on the sale of honorary membership cards as a fund raising means to promote the spring banquet.

The next meeting was set for March 4 and luncheon was served by Mrs. George Cvetan, Mrs. Michael Buchar, Mrs. John Hurrianko and Einar Ruokohen.

Summer Sessions Dean Named at Penn State

Dr. Palmer C. Weaver, assistant dean of the College of Education and director of Summer Sessions at the Pennsylvania State University, has been named to the new post of dean of Summer Sessions.

He will devote full time to the direction of Summer Sessions activities and Dr. Abram W. VanderMeer, professor of education, will succeed him as assistant to the dean of the College of Education.

Dr. Weaver was named assistant director of Summer Sessions in 1922 and served in this capacity until last July when he was named to succeed Dr. Marion R. Trabue, who retired as director of Summer Sessions and as dean of the College of Education.

Prior to the retirement of Dean Trabue, the dean of the College of Education has always served as director of Summer Sessions.

Creation of the full time position of dean of Summer Sessions reflects the growing importance of the summer program, which includes two three-week sessions and the main session of six weeks. Last summer, with 9,783 students enrolled, the summer program reached a new enrollment record. The number of graduate students enrolled during the summer also has been on the increase with 55 per cent of the students last summer enrolled in advanced work.

Dean Weaver is a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh with advanced degrees from Harvard and Columbia University. Prior to his appointment to the education faculty at Penn State in 1922 he served on the faculty of the University of Pittsburgh and taught in the Irwin., high school.

Dr. VanderMeer is a graduate of the University of Washington with advanced degrees from the University of Chicago and has served on the Penn State faculty since 1946.

Sprinkler Firms Are Named in Anti-trust Suits

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Justice Department announced today that anti-trust charges have been brought against 12 companies engaged in the sale and installation of automatic sprinkler systems in the Carolinas.

The indictment was returned today by a federal grand jury in Charlotte, N. C.

The defendants were accused of engaging in a conspiracy to allocate customers for sprinkler systems in North Carolina and South Carolina.

Blaw-Knox Co. of Pittsburgh, Pa.; Automatic Sprinkler Corp. of America, Youngstown, Ohio, and Globe Automatic Sprinkler Co., Philadelphia.

TIDYING UP FOR FEB. 28 — Associate Justice Stanley Reed tidies up his desk in Washington as he looks to Feb. 28, his retirement day.

Highlights of Leader's 1957 Budget Message

HARRISBURG (UP) — Highlights of Gov. George M Leader's General Fund budget message to the 1957 General Assembly today:

1. "This is not a 'fat' budget, swollen for bargaining with the Legislature or for creating new payroll. To the best of my ability and judgment, it is a non-political statement of the Commonwealth's needs for the next two years."

2 "I want to leave to my successor a state without a deficit—a state without a deficit either in money at the biennium's end or, more important still a state without a deficit in its moral values, as to what its government should be."

3. "I invite the Legislature to go over the budget with a fine-toothed comb...but I must quickly add that I will necessarily oppose any attempt to cut back services vital to the people of our state, particularly in our program for mental health and for the decent care of our retarded children."

4 "In my responsibility as governor, I will approve any tax program which this General Assembly enacts which will support the services to which the state is committed, be fair in its application to the people of this state, contain a basic measure of adjustment to the inflationary economy in which we live, and be stimulating to the economic development of Pennsylvania."

5. "We should all like to see, I am sure, the full strength of this state's magnificent industrial and financial structure aligned solidly with its government in a great drive for economic growth."

6 "Perhaps we should all restate our belief that we owe to the people of Pennsylvania something more than a selfish exploitation of power or a perfunctory discharge of responsibility."

7. "A budget such as Pennsylvania now requires must be supported by something more than revenues. It must be supported by an affirmative faith in the rendering of service...by a fierce belief in good government."

8 "I have already cut almost $175 millions of dollars from the budget requests of the state departments and agencies and the state-aided institutions for all of which there was a very good case. There is scarcely a trace of new program in this budget."

Home Financing Pattern Changes Since Year 1930

LOS ANGELES — (UP) — Two Los Angeles economists report a major change since 1930 in the way people finance buying a home.

Dr. James Gillies and Clayton Curtis said their research shows that banks, loan companies and insurance companies have become the major holders of home mortgages. From 1930 to 1950 the mortgage holdings of these institutions increased by 158 per cent.

The majority of mortgages in 1930 were held by individuals or non-institutional lenders. But in the next 20 years such mortgages increased by only three per cent.

The pattern seems to be that even if a person sells his own home, he would rather turn the mortgage due on it over to a bank than hold it himself.

The trend was brought about by the federal government protecting savings accounts, various government lending programs, the unhappy experience of many individuals with mortgage lending in the 1930's and the need for large amounts of capital to finance housing tracts during the post-war period.

Farm Museum Started by Lad

BEDMINSTER, N. Y. (UP) — Thomas Nevius Westervelt, 11, a descendant of the founder of the 182-year-old Nevius farm, has collected, catalogued and placed on display more than 100 early farm implements in a barn museum recently opened to the public.

All proceeds from the nominal admission charge go to the Bedminster chapter of the American Red Cross.

The museum is patterned after the National Farm Museum at Cooperstown, N. Y., which Tommy visited with his family last summer. Its exhibits include a wooden harrow dating back to 1775, an 1875 butter churn, a wooden corncutter and tools believed to have been used in constructing the original farm buildings in 1774.

The property, whose original buildings still stand, is no longer farmed but is occupied by Tommy's grandmother, Mrs. A. Layton Nevius. Tommy and his parents live next door

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Mrs. Anna Josay, who died eight years ago, February 4, 1949.

Dearest mother, in silence you suffered,
And with patience you bore,
'Til God called you to Him
To suffer no more.
We took our sorrows all to you,
You'd smooth our troubled brow,
You always chased the cloud away,
We could not forget you now.
Gone into the light that shineth so fair,
Gone from this earth of sorrow and care,
Resting those hands that did their best.
Gone, dear mother, gone to rest.
What is a home without our mother?
What are all the joys we meet?
When your loving smile no longer
Greets the coming of our feet!
Dearest mother, how we miss you,
Since from earth you passed away,
And our hearts are aching sorely
As we think of you today.
Peaceful be thy rest dear mother,
In life we loved you dearly,
In death we do the same
Sadly missed by John Josay and Family

In loving memory of my dear son, Allen Hall, who died one year ago today, February 5, 1956
Sad and sudden was the call
Of one so dearly loved by all,
A bitter grief, a shock severe
It was to part with one so dear.
I often sit and think of you
And speak of how you died.
To think you could not say goodbye
Before you closed your eyes
For all of us you did your best,
Oh, God grant you eternal rest.
Sadly missed by Mrs. India Stamper, Wife and Children

In loving memory of our dear father and grandfather, Mike Halko, who died eight years ago today, February 5, 1949.
The rolling stream of life rolls on,
And still the vacant chair
Recalls the love, the voice, the smile,
Of the one who once sat there.
It is lonesome here without you,
And sad the weary way,
For life is not the same to us
Since you were called away
Sadly missed by Daughters, Sons-in-law and Grandchildren

Snow, Sleet or Rain Forecast For the State

By UNITED PRESS

Cloudy weather was forecast for most of Pennsylvania today while some snow or sleet mixed with rain was expected later tonight Warm moist air was overrunning a cold air mass now centered over Lake Erie and probably will bring precipitation tonight in the form of snow or sleet. The precipitation will change to rain over most of the southern portion of the state Wednesday.

High temperatures today were expected to range from the low 30's in the extreme northern portion of the state to the low 40's in the extreme southeastern portion.

The low tonight will be between the low 20's in north portion to low 30 s in the south High temperatures on Wednesday will be mostly in the 30 s.

Leader Asks Millions For Mental Treatment

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov George M. Leader today asked the Republican-controlled Legislature for $23 895,383 in additional funds for one of the hallmarks of his administration — care and treatment of the mentally ill.

The governor said in his budget message that despite the recommended increase Welfare Secretary Harry Shapiro "believes he has been very harshly dealt with."

The Welfare Department budget submitted by Leader for the next two years called for overall appropriations of $221,100 600 for every phase of the agency's operations Of that amount, $166,917,383 was allocated for mental health services as contrasted with $143,022 000 granted in the current fiscal period.

The departmental budget recommendations included $24 000 000 for state-aided hospitals; $750,000 for state-aided homes; $2 150,000 for nurses training, $1 196 534 for services for the aging $2,372 946 for the Pennsylvania Training School at Morganza, and $7,195,933 for children's services.

The needs of the 10 state-owned and operated medical and surgical hospitals, under the jurisdiction of the Welfare Department and mostly in the coal regions, were listed at $15 439,663, an increase of $39,663. However, some of the institutions would have to get along with less money.

The breakdown, with the current appropriations in parenthesis:

Ashland—$1,452 114 ($1,600,000); Bloomsburg-$1 260,240 ($1,220,000); Coaldale— $1,322,396 ($1,434,000); Connellsville— $1,584 533 ($1,538,500; Hazleton— $2,162,856 ($197,200); Locust Mountain—$838,659; ($837,750); Nanticoke— $1,259,036 ($1 138,100); Philipsburg— $1,726,862 ($1,586 750). Scranton— $2,666 412 ($2,608 500); Shamokin—$1,166 555 ($1,238 200)

Gone 'Gator Is Coed's Pet

NEW YORK (UP)—Three Columbia University coeds are carrying on an experiment in co-existence

Linda Green, Claire Delage and Irene Curtis live with a 12 and a half inch alligator and their cat, Pushkin, in a small, off-campus apartment The 'gator, named Gorki as Linda's and was the Christmas gift of a boyfriend in California

Gorki is kept in the bathtub until the girls want to take showers Then he is moved to a pressure cooker — regularly scalded before use in cooking dinner The girls say they have had nervous indigestion since Christmas.

Air Secretary Believes U. S. 'Best in World'

ENGLEWOOD, N J. (UP)—Air Force Secretary Donald A. Quarles said Monday night he is convinced the United States has "the best air force in the world" and one which can effectively deter war

In a speech before his hometown Republican Club. Quarles took issue with the Democratic majority of a Senate Air Power subcommittee

The Democrats, headed by Sen. Stuart Symington (Mo), contended America's vulnerability to sudden air attack "has increased greatly" and under present defense policies will continue to increase.

"It is my conviction," Quarles said, "that we have today the best air force in the world and that its quality in men, material and leadership surpasses that of any potential opponent."

Sales Tax, Corporation Tax Run Race for Top Revenue Getters

HARRISBURG (UP)—The 3% per cent sales tax and corporation taxes run a close race for revenue raising honors in Gov. George M. Leader's estimates of General Fund income for the last half of his term.

The yield from corporation levies are figured at $476,476,000 for the 1957-59 fiscal period, or 30.56 per cent of all estimated revenue. The sales and use tax is listed as good for $473,500,000, or 30 37 per cent.

The governor's "budget pie," showing the split of the budget dollar on income and outgo, totals $1,559,091,535. This figure, however, does not include the $45,247,200 he recommended in his message for new programs.

Here is where other budget dollars would come from:

1. Alcoholic beverages, $184,000,000 (11 80 per cent).
2. Cigarets, $89,000,000 (5.71 per cent).
3. Gross receipts and insurance premiums taxes $66,000,000 (4.24 per cent).
4. Institutional revenues, $42,720,235 (2.74 per cent).
5. Realty transfer tax, $41,500,000 (2.66 per cent)
6. Other revenue $36,029,269 or 2 31 per cent)

Public education would account for $741,786,372 of disbursements and expenditures, or 50.23 per cent of the planned outlay.

Other items under the outgo column are:

1. Public health, assistance and welfare $425,154,170 (28.79 per cent).
2. Protection to persons and property $98,117,352 (6.64 per cent).
3. General government $95,376,188 (6 45 per cent).
4. Conservation and natural resources $16,500,000 (1.12 per cent).
5. Interest and sinking funds $68,915,020 (4 67 per cent).
6. General State Authority rentals $31,000,000 (2.10 per cent).

Sentenced for Stealing Boats

ERIE, Pa. (UP)—Two Ohio men, who admitted stealing 35 boats in the Great Lakes in 1954, were enroute to Michigan today for the third round of their sentencing

The men, George Ingalls, 26, Cleveland, and Russell Wakefield, 28, Toledo, were brought here after serving two-year terms at the Mansfield Reformatory to which they were sentenced in Ohio.

Erie County judges ordered them Monday to make restitution but withheld sentencing until Michigan could pass judgment.

Police in the three states estimated the men netted about $12,000 reselling the stolen boats.

The Public Has a Right to Know

ALONG WITH other newspapers in this area, The Daily Independent has received a request from a commission of Redstone Presbytery, a governing body of the Presbyterian Church, that we "refrain from giving the story (concerning developments at Rehoboth Presbyterian Church in Rostraver Township) any more space in your newspaper." The letter expressing this request is printed in The Peoples Forum today.

It will be impossible for us to comply with any such request, and our readers, as well as the members of the Presbytery commission, are entitled to an explanation of our position in the matter.

Three weeks ago, the pastor of Rehoboth Church, the Rev. J. Nelson Jackaway, delivered a sermon in which he discussed, among other things, political conditions in Westmoreland County and Rostraver Township. And he made the statement that, because of his activity in an organization (Operation: Crusade) which has been fighting rackets and political corruption, he had been subjected to "pressure", some of it from within his own congregation, designed to drive him from his pulpit.

It seemed to us that this was a newsworthy statement of general interest for the whole community served by The Daily Independent, and we published an account of it. We also included enough of the background of Operation: Crusade and Mr. Jackaway's connection with it and of the situation at Rehoboth Church to make the story more intelligible to the average reader.

We also printed an account of a subsequent meeting of the Rehoboth congregation at which the minister asked for the support of the congregation. And we included a statement by Mr. Jackaway to the effect that he regarded certain actions of the congregation as endorsement of his position.

* * *

WE FULLY SHARE the feeling of the Presbytery commission, which is now making an investigation of the Rehoboth situation, that such news does not make pleasant reading, particularly for those directly involved. And certainly it is not our purpose to injure anyone or any institution.

But we respectfully disagree that this is a "personal situation" or a "family affair" in which the public served by this newspaper has no legitimate interest. When a minister who has been a respected member of a community for eight years makes the statement that his professional career is being jeopardized because of activities which are the right of every American citizen, his neighbors certainly are entitled to know what he is saying, whether they choose to believe him or not.

We recognize that there may be two sides to the Rehoboth dispute and that having heard Mr. Jackaway's side, our readers are entitled to hear the other. But although we have made a diligent effort to locate a spokesman for the other side, we have not yet succeeded.

It is not our business, of course, to tell Redstone Presbytery how it shall handle the Rehoboth matter. And if it chooses to regard it as a "family affair" to be investigated in secrecy and silence, that is its province. And when the commission is ready to announce its conclusions to the public, we will publish them.

But The Independent cannot be a party to suppression of information in which it considers this community to have a legitimate interest. Not even when such information has to do with "delicate" matters.

The National Guard

THE ROLE of the National Guard in our national defense plans seems to be coming in for a serious review at the top levels of the government. And none too soon, in our opinion.

American defense plans, including even weapons sometimes, have traditionally been based on what was being used in the closing phases of the last previous war. And the result usually has been that at the beginning of another war, we have had to modernize speedily and at great cost.

There is reason to doubt, however, whether in the next national emergency, if there is one, we will have time for this process. It could be that the side which isn't ready the day the shooting starts is going to lose.

The National Guard, of course, is only one element of our defense arrangements. But if, as we are led to believe, it is in the first line of our defenses, then its organization and training are of the utmost importance.

It seems to us that President Eisenhower and Secretary of Defense Wilson are on solid ground when they insist that Guard recruits should have a minimum of six months of basic training. Some Guard officers object to this on the ground that it would make recruiting more difficult. They favor only 11 weeks of training.

What has to be decided is whether we consider a Guardsman must be ready for immediate service or whether, after calling him for active duty, there will be time to complete his training. That question goes to the heart of the role of the National Guard.

Merry-Go-Round—

Boston TV License Is Bitter Issue

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The Boston Globe dumped sand last week on the skids that had been greased for its competitor, the Boston Herald and Traveler, to win a television license worth $20 million. It filed a series of affidavits with the Federal Communications Commission that have the television - publishing world buzzing.

Mr. Pearson

Prior to this the FCC, under pressure from GOP National Chairman Len Hall and Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks, ordered its staff to prepare the necessary papers for awarding the valuable TV permit to the Herlad and Traveler.

The decision was so cut-and-dried that the commissioners didn't even bother to discuss it. The four who always jump when the GOP National Committee snaps its fingers — Chairman George McConnaughey, John Doerfer, Robert Lee, and Richard Mack — simply cast their majority vote for the Herald and Traveler. They not only disregarded the findings of the FCC's veteran chief examiner, Col. James Cunningham, but violated the FCC's own policy against concentrating news outlets into too few hands.

Startling Charges

The last minute before formal action, however, the rival Boston Globe made a vigorous protest. In a series of startling affidavits, the Globe charged that Herald-Traveler Publisher Robert Choate had threatened to use the new TV station to drive the Globe out of business.

The affidavits claimed that Cho etaoin shrdlu cmfwyp vbgkqjxz-?, had tried for two years to force a merger between the Globe and Herald-Traveler. On legal advice that such a merger would violate the anti-trust laws, the Globe refused to negotiate.

Choate then angrily threatened "to do his best to put the Globe out of business," and, if he won his TV license, "to use his newspapers, radio station, and television station to injure the Globe if he could," charged Globe President Davis Taylor in a sworn affidavit.

In another affidavit, Globe Treasurer John Taylor quoted Choate as warning: "If I get channel 5, I may drive you out of business."

The Globe's advertising director, John F. Reid, told of still another conversation with Choate. At a Clover Club reception last March 10, Choate allegedly asked Reid: "When are you coming to work for the Herald-Traveler?"

When Reid said he was satisfied with this Globe job, Choate reported: "Wait until we get our TV station and see what happens."

What Choate apparently meant was that the Herald-Traveler could offer "package advertising" in its newspapers and over its radio and TV stations at bargain rates. The Herald-Traveler already operates Boston's 50,000-watt radio station WHDH and offers combined radio time and newspaper space to advertisers at unpublished rates.

Pressured Banks

In its petition to the FCC, the Globe protested that "if the Herald-Traveler should be awarded a license to operate television channel 5, due to the policy of the Herald-Traveler, the power of the Herald-Traveler to promote its own business to obtain additional circulation and to obtain advertising will be greatly increased so that (the Globe) could compete against it only with the greatest of difficulty."

The Globe is also building a new printing plant, which required financing from the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co. and the Second Bank-State Street Trust Co. Davis Taylor charged in his affidavit: "After the insurance company and the bank informed the Globe that they would furnish such financing, but before they had committee themselves other than by verbal commitment, Mr. Choate visited the officers of the insurance company and officers of the bank and attempted to upset the loans."

It will be interesting to see whether the Globe, an independent paper, can persuade the FCC not to award the TV permit to the pro-Republican Herald-Traveler.

Chief Examiner Cunningham, judging the case strictly on its merits, ruled in favor of awarding the license to the Greater Boston Television Corp. But Choate pulled political strings through Hall, Weeks, and to a lesser extent, Sen. Leverett Saltonstall (R., Mass.). Weeks even arranged appointments for Choate at the FCC.

From Washington—

Is Eisenhower Changing?

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

The Eisenhower administration seems to be continuously drawn into doing things it doesn't want to do, into spending money it would like to save and into taking over functions it would prefer to leave to the states.

In the cause of ending racial discrimination in every aspect of citizenship the President would prefer that the role of the federal government be almost exclusively that of a resplendent example, setting a standard of racial equality before the law wherever the government touches.

Mr. Drummond

This was the theme of Mr. Eisenhower's campaign speeches in 1952, and the federal record on civil rights and in fostering equality of opportunity in industries having defense contracts has been outstanding.

But a series of Supreme Court decisions making segregation unconstitutional in public schools, in public transportation, in public buildings and in protecting the right to vote have inevitably enlarged the role of the federal government since every constitutional right must be upheld by every arm of the government.

Budget Idea Changed

Today the Eisenhower administration is proposing a 1957-58 budget $12 billion higher than Mr. Eisenhower set as his target during his first campaign for office. At that time he and Senator Taft could announce their agreement that $60 billion should be the absolutely top spending figure in peacetime and that the White House would put its back unreservedly in getting down to that ceiling just as soon as possible.

The administration never got there although it gave it a heroic try during the first two years. The realistic outlook now is that the budget will go above $72 billion before it goes very far under it.

On another front, the President has been extremely reluctant to cause the federal government to get into the job of taking over from the states part of the job of constructing public school buildings.

In his first year, Mr. Eisenhower proposed no federal aid for school construction. In his second year he sponsored a White House conference on education. In his third year he proposed a very modest aid bill which wasn't passed. In his fourth year he proposed a major school aid bill which also didn't pass. This year he is proposing that $2,070,000 be used over the next four years to help the states make up the gaping deficit in classroom construction.

Mr. Eisenhower would surround this undertaking with safeguards against the federal government taking control of education which, he believes, should be left totally with the states and local communities. He sees the federal role as that of "facilitation education," not "controling" it. He also advocates that this four-year program of assistance be an "emergency" and "one-shot" operation.

It was in light of such a trend as I have sketched that a correspondent remarked to the President at his press conference this past week that "many persons are puzzled by this change in your thinking." Mr. Eisenhower's reply was: "I haven't changed my mind at all."

And he hasn't — or so it seems to me. Instead, two things have happened: events have changed and, in some areas, the impact of a long-standing problem is stronger on the President's thinking as he became more familiar with it.

The government is spending more money on defense today not because Mr. Eisenhower likes to spend but because the cold war is colder, the Soviets are getting stronger in the air and complex modern weapons — jet bombers, missiles, etc. — cost more.

The need for the public school buildings was as great four years ago as today. But the President's awareness of the need is far greater and he is convinced that meeting it cannot safely be delayed nor accomplished by local action only.

Mr. Eisenhower is continuing to take what he deems a basically conservative view of the role of the government that, in Lincoln's dictum should only "Do for people what they cannot do for themselves, or so well do in their individual capacities."

But the President's conservatism is not a conservatism which will permit him to neglect doing what needs to be done and what can only be done on a national basis.

The Peoples Forum—

Ask Silence on Rehoboth

To the Editor:

You are of course aware of the situation at the Rehoboth Presbyterian Church and of the publicity it has received in the newspapers.

The commission which was elected by Presbytery to investigate this situation feels that the recent newspaper stories concerning it have only made the situation worse. You can understand that this is a very personal situation and really a family affair. It is deplorable that such a situation exists, but it is not helped by becoming a topic of public discussion.

The commission is doing its very best to resolve the difficulties and we would appreciate very much if you would refrain from giving the story any more space in your newspaper. We understand that you have the freedom of the press, but we are also sure that you are sensitive enough to human personality and to the delicacy of church matters that you have no desire of injuring anyone involved.

We feel that the truth about the matter should be known. But we do not yet know it. When some conclusion is reached I am sure the commission will be happy to make that conclusion public through the newspapers, but until that time we wish that this matter would receive no more publicity.

We ask your sincere consideration of this request.

Behind The News—

Supreme Soviet Meets; Developments Watched

By CHARLES M. McCANN

Soviet Russia's leaders may make some important pronouncements this week on their newly revised policy.

The Supreme Soviet — the rubber - stamp parliament of the Soviet Union — is to meet in Moscow today.

The meeting may prove to be purely routine, like the two held last year. But it could be sensational.

In any event, the speeches made by government leaders are pretty certain to indicate, for one thing, how far they mean to pull back from the liberalized policy which backfired on them last year.

Some Changes Expected

One month ago, there were persistent reports in European capitals, on both sides of the Iron Curtain, that some big shifts in the government might be announced at the Supreme Soviet session.

These reports were that Nikita S. Khrushchev, the Communist Party chieftain, might take over the prime ministry from Nikolai A. Bulganin.

Bulganin, it was said, would be given the figurehead post of president which Klimenti Y. Voroshilov now holds. Voroshilov, at 75, is about ready for retirement.

There has been nothing to substantiate these reports. In fact, there has been a tendency to discount them.

For one reason, it was announced on Jan. 21 that Voroshilov would make a state visit to Communist China in April.

It was announced Friday that Khrushchev and Bulganin would visit Finland this spring. Of course, they could go there with Khrushchev as premier and Bulganin as president.

Last Meeting Unexciting

There was nothing exciting at the last meeting of the Supreme Soviet, last July. But it was at a Supreme Soviet meeting on Feb. 8, 1955, that Georgi M. Malenkov resigned as premier, announcing that he felt inadequate for the job.

Moscow dispatches have said that the Supreme Soviet at this week's session is expected to approve the 1957 budget and perhaps approve some changes in the current five-year plan for industrial development.

Apparently in anticipation of the Supreme Soviet meeting, the government announced last Wednesday that industrial production for 1956 exceeded that of 1955 by 11 per cent.

But in some fields, including the vitally important ones of iron and steel, coal and building materials, the 1956 quotas were not met through production increased as compared with 1955.

Usual Disarmament Talk

Government spokesmen are likely, at the Supreme Soviet meeting, to emphasize Russia's desire for disarmament, without accepting any inspection methods which would guarantee the Western powers against cheating.

They may announce a reduction in arms expenditures, which will not convince any Western military man that Russia's power to make war is being reduced.

Undoubtedly there will be denunciation of the United States and other free countries to make it plain that the Soviet government has resumed the cold war as part of its attempt to cover up its troubles in the Soviet satellite countries.

But Western governments will be watching for any statements on such countries as Poland, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, East Germany and Titoist Yugoslavia to give further evidence of hardening policy toward Communist Eastern Europe.

Don't Worry too Much About Youth's 'Inaction'

By MARGARET LATROBE

The other day a physical education expert told me that we are becoming a nation of "basket cases." That before many years go by we'll have lost the use of our legs simply because we won't walk, run or gallop when the family auto stands ready to haul us 100 yards.

Mrs. Latrobe

The person feels that even babies are plunked in play pens to their eventual peril. Poor tots, fenced in, taught to sit there and be quiet while a more challenging existence passes them by.

Further, when the wee ones outgrow play pens there is another even worse imprisonment awaiting them — television. Where the corral leaves off, Mickey Mouse leaps in to handcuff a generation through hypnosis.

This expert's opinion is that in competition with youngsters of Switzerland, Germany and revolt-torn Hungary, our kids couldn't race 'em around the block — and win.

This expert, I figure, is (1) childless, and (2) overcome by the conviction of her own business.

Any average mother, gazing at her baby son flexing his biceps at the bars of a play pen, can tell you honestly that she wouldn't take thrice the sum it cost her just for the relative peace of mind in knowing he isn't chinning himself on the woodwork. Lethargy? Sedentary existence? That's for laughs. Before you can say Jackie Robinson, this lad is swinging a baseball bat — at her, mayhap — waiting to dash off a Little League homer.

Having primed his tender (*) muscles at the play pen rim (which is unsteady on its axis by now) Junior one day hoists himself overboard, and takes off like Peter Rabbit in a carrot derby. Maybe mamma wasn't exactly a 100-yard contender in her youth. She fast becomes a sprinter, without portfolio — which she dropped two blocks back. Chasing her "unathletic" imp, she wonders what mileage would be clocked if he were going someplace in particular.

Our kids may ride to school, drape themselves slothfully before the Ogre Television. But friends, they're just saving their strength for rock 'n roll, football, baseball so they will grow up into golfers. And away they go! Who can keep up with them?

Not I. Tennis, anyone?

Slovak Auxiliary Plans Card Party

The Slovak Ladies Auxiliary met last night at the Slovak Home and the president, Mrs. Anna Jurnak, was in charge. She gave the opening prayer and conducted the business session during which a card party was planned.

Mary Peshok gave the recording secretary report, Margaret Sassak gave the financial report and conducted the roll call. There were 70 members present.

A contribution was given to the Band Orchestra Parents Association at Monessen High School.

Post-Easter Party

Plans were made for a post-Easter card party with Ann Troychak and Mary Peshok in charge. April 28 was the date selected. A committee will be chosen to assist them.

The by-laws were read for the second time by Margaret Sassak and the treasurer, Margaret Stofan, presented her statement.

Dorothy Gaydos was named chairman of the March lunch committee.

Prayer closed the session with Vice President Anna Troychak in charge. The next meeting was set for March 4.

Valentine Social

Mary Dzatko was in charge of the social hour that followed and a Valentine motif was carried out. Valentines were used as place cards.

On the lunch committee were Ann Fayak, Margaret Ellego, Betty Fayer, Irene Forgac, Elizabeth Farkas, Elsie Demchak, Mary Ezerski and Josephine Galaski.

Cards were played and high score winners were Mary Peshok, pinochle; Ann Peshok, five hundred. The door prize was won by Eleanor Lipnicky and the guest prize by Ann Idzik. Other prizes were won by Betty Kerestes, Ann Fayak and Sophie Luoma.

Mrs. C. Pokomo Is Hostess to Sunshine Club

The Sunshine card club was entertained on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Charles Pokomo, 323 Delaware avenue.

Cards were played and the high score prizes were awarded to Mrs. Edward Petrus, Mrs. Helen Forlini and Mrs. Steve Pokomo.

Other members attending were Mrs. Anthony Shemony, Mrs. Ermin Huhra, Mrs. Edward Debowski and Mrs. James Piper.

Mrs. Piper, of Monongahela R. D., was named next hostess and after play the women were served luncheon.

New Social Club Is Organized by Young Women

A new social savings club has been organized and will have a roster of 14 members. The organization meeting was held recently at the home of Mrs. Evelyn Lea and the name chosen for the group is "The Mignonettes".

Officers were also chosen at the first session and they are Mrs. Bess Hill, president; Mrs. Evelyn Lea, vice president; Mrs. Mary Jane Brown, secretary; Harrietta McCraw, treasurer.

The first regular meeting of the club was then held at the home of Mrs. Sadie Jane Arnold, on Schoonmaker avenue. Plans were made for a bake sale and for a fashion show and tea in April. It was also decided that some type of card game be the entertainment at each meeting and this will be chosen by the hostess.

A social hour concluded the evening and luncheon was served by the hostess assisted by Marie Crawley. Ruth Arnold will be next hostess.

Croatian Ladies Auxiliary Plans Banquet Tomorrow

Plans have been made by the Croatian Ladies Auxiliary for a banquet to be held at the Ankara on Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock. All members planning to attend are asked to meet at the Croatian Hall at 6 p. m., in order to board the special bus.

The event was planned at the regular February meeting held in the Croatian Hall on Sunday evening with the president, Mrs. Zora Vitovic, in charge. Routine reports were given by the secretary, Anne Zoretich, treasurer, Wilma Dolinsky and the social secretary, Kay Niemi.

Mrs. Mary Penich was reported to be ill by the sick visitation chairman, Antoinette Bukovac.

Plan Dinner

The Croatian Men's Club will honor members of the auxiliary at a roast beef dinner to be served on Sunday evening, Mar. 10, at the Croatian Hall.

Further plans for the Easter Dance to be held on April 21 were discussed. Mrs. Ann Cavrak was selected as chairman and will be assisted in planning the event by Helen Bender, Ann Billick, Barbara Belavich, Helen Domyancic, Rose Francis, Wilma Gagatko, Ann Krusec, Nancy Penich and Diana Mikan.

A social hour followed the business meeting. Luncheon was served by a committee composed of Katherine Vlasic, Anne Chulig, Mary Fister, Diana Mikan, Mary Milinovich and Rose Yadrich.

Prizes for games were awarded to Helen Frediana and Kathryn Kovacic and prizes for cards went to Anne Billick and Kay Niemi.

Prizes Awarded At Meeting Of B. and B. Club

A meeting of the B. and B. Club was held last week at the home of Mrs. Bea O'Savage, of Arthur street, Roscoe. Three tables of cards were in play.

Winning the high score awards were Mrs. Bea Gosney, Mrs. Mary Zielensky, Mrs. Bea O'Savage and Mrs. Eleanor Tonkovish.

Mrs. Betty Lou McDuffy was welcomed into the club as a new member replacing Mrs. Doris Deutsch, who is on a leave from membership.

Birthdays celebrated were by the hostess along with Mrs. Mary O'Savage and Mrs. Juanita Telegraphis. They received gifts from their "secret sisters". A hostess gift was presented by Mrs. Mary O'Savage.

Luncheon was served and Mrs. Mary O'Savage will be next hostess.

The Saturday Nighters Hold Routine Meet

The regular meeting of the Saturday Nighters was held at the Kneseth Israel Synagogue on Saturday evening with Susan Krause as hostess.

During the business session Mark Tuckfelt was appointed to the calling committee. Dues were collected by Marlene Cherkin.

Mrs. Sylvia Krause served luncheon after the session and the remainder of the social hour was spent in playing games.

Television Show Of Interest to Area Clubwomen

A television program of interest to local and district blubwomen will be shown tomorrow morning on Johnstown station at 10 o'clock, when the usual weekly women's program is presented.

Arlene Francis will interview the General Federation of Women's Clubs president, Mrs. R. I. C. Prout and there will be special tribute paid to the Altoona Junior Woman's Club, the winner of the outstanding achievement award last year.

Mrs. Lynnford Hunter, who was serving as president of the Altoona Club, when it received the award for its work against juvenile delinquency, will also speak.

Mrs. Hunter, who now heads all junior clubs in this state, is well known locally having been the speaker at the first meeting of this year at the Monessen Junior Women's Club. Other area clubwomen became acquainted with her at conventions.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Jadyk

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Jadyk Mark Golden Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Jadyk, of 1600 Maple avenue, observed the golden anniversary of their marriage on Saturday, Feb. 2, however the celebration to mark the occasion was held on Sunday in order that all members of the family could attend.

Attend Mass

On Saturday morning, Mr. and Mrs. Jadyk attended mass at St. John the Divine Russian Orthodox Church and received the sacrament of Holy Communion with the Rev. John Govrusik officiating.

The family dinner was held at the home on Sunday and was attended by the children of the couple and the members of their families.

A large anniversary cake centered the dinner table and a social hour followed the meal. Mr. and Mrs. Jadyk were presented with many gifts.

The honored couple made their home in Monessen for the past 50 years. Mr. Jadyk is 70 years of age and his wife is 67. He is presently retired after having been employed for many years by his son, John.

Sons and Daughters

Mr. and Mrs. Jadyk are the parents of Mrs. Marie Catone, Mrs. Irene Averbach, Andrew Jadyk, Jr. and Helen Rusnak, all of Pittsburgh, Stephen, Sam, Mike and John, all of Monessen.

All of the sons and daughters were present at the Sunday party and pictures were taken throughout the day.

Gail June McKita Becomes Bride of Charles Jarvis In Belle Vernon Church

Solemnized in the First Presbyterian Church of Belle Vernon on Friday evening, Feb. 1, was the marriage of Gail June McKita and Charles Jarvis. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael McKita, of 607 Meadow avenue, Charleroi and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nash Jarvis, of 107 Price avenue, Belle Vernon.

The altar arranged with ferns, white carnations and tall white Candelabra provided the backtapers held in branched Cathedral ground for the nuptial rites. The Rev. S. George Clarke, church pastor, read the lines of the double ring ceremony at 6 o'clock in the evening.

Musical Prelude

A prelude of organ music played by Mrs. John Bunardzya preceded the ceremony. Mrs. Bunardzya also accompanied the vocalist, Thomas Wagner, who sang, "Through the Years". "I Love Thee" and "The Lord's Prayer".

For her wedding the bride selected a cocktail length gown of bridal white, which was styled of lace over taffeta. The bodice in princess fashion was made with a scoop neckline and three quarter length sleeves. Her shoulder length veil of sheer illusion was held to a matching crown of lace. For jewelry she wore a single strand of pearls and matching earrings, a gift of the bridegroom. She carried a bridal arrangement of white carnations centered with a purple throated white orchid, entwined with lilies of the valley.

Maid of Honor

The bride entered the church with her father, who have her in marriage and was preceded by her maid of honor and only attendant, Bernice Bandini, of North Charleroi. She was attired in a cocktail length gown of blue lace and taffeta and wore a crown of pink roses and carried a matching bouquet.

Harry Crosser, of Belle Vernon, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was the best man. Stephen Kramrech, of Charleroi, brother-in-law of the bride, served as usher.

Mrs. McKita, mother of the bride, selected a street length dress of navy blue crepe with pink accessories. Her corsage was of pink rosebuds. Mrs. Jarvis wore an ensemble of poudre blue crepe and lace for her son's wedding. She wore matching and navy accessories and a red rose corsage.

Hold Reception

Following the ceremony there was a reception at the Turner Hall in Charleroi for about 150 relatives and friends. Pink and white appointments were used in the decoration of the hall and a large decorated cake centered the bridal table. Vases of yellow and white pompons were also used as table decorations.

When the couple left for a southern wedding trip, the bride was wearing a beige suit with brown accessories and an orchid corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The new Mrs. Jarvis was graduated with the class of 1953 from Charleroi High School and has been employed as an operator in the Charleroi office of the Bell Telephone Co. Mr. Jarvis was graduated from Rostraver High School with the class of 1947 and from Pennsylvania State University in 1951. He is now employed as assistant manager of the Washington office of the Commercial Credit Corporation. The couple will reside at 289 East Wheeling street, Washington.

Mrs. Jackaway Is Author of New Booklet

"Come Learn of Me", a resource manual for spiritual life secretaries has just been published by the National Council of Women's Organizations of the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America. It was authored by Mrs. Clarice M. Jackaway, wife of the pastor of the Rehoboth Presbyterian Church.

The booklet contains 23 illustrated pages of instructions for those women, who have accepted the responsibility of guiding the spiritual program of the groups to which they belong.

The booklet presents the responsibilities of spiritual life secretaries, how to foster spiritual growth, how to encourage deeper Bible study, how to lead worship services, spiritual celebration on special occasions, counseling and a Bibliography.

Mrs. Jackaway won one of number of women throughout the United States to be contacted by the National Council to participate in the preparation of the booklet. When she responded with her suggestions the Council decided that she should be commissioned to write the book in its entirety.

The booklet will now be made available to women's groups of Presbyterian Churches of the country.

Mrs. Jackaway has been chosen to write spiritual instruction booklets for the Presbyterian Church on previous occasions.

Chicago Largest In Steel

NEW YORK (UP)—East Chicago, Ind., and Chicago, Ill., situated only a few miles apart, are America's two biggest steelmaking cities.

Gary, Ind., located in the same industrial region, ranks third. Next in line are Youngstown, Ohio, Sparrows Point, Md., and Lackawanna, N.Y.

Pittsburgh, a name long synonymous with steel, stands 10th on the list. New York, the nation's biggest city, produces nary an ingot of steel.

The Chicago area has experienced the biggest growth in steelmaking capacity during the postwar period, a spokesman for the American Iron & Steel Institute said.

The nation's steelmaking capacity today is 133,459,150 tons, which is equivalent to 1,582 tons for each man, woman and child in the .S. In 1947 capacity of 91,241,250 tons was equal to 1,285 tons per capita, figured on a much smaller population.

In 1900 our capacity for making steel was only around 20 million tons.

A total of 28 states have steel producing facilities. Pennsylvania leads the nation with 35,801,910 tons. Ohio is next with 26,596,280 tons. These two states alone outproduce the Soviet nion, the world's No. 2 steelmaker.

The American Iron & Steel Institute divides the .S. into six steel regions. Biggest by far is the Pittsburgh - Youngstown district, with a capacity of 47,328,960 tons. That's more than one-third the nation's total capacity.

The Chicago district is next with 29,270,700 tons, followed by the eastern district, 27,971,920 tons; Cleveland-Detroit, 13,585,400; western 7,673,300, and southern 7,628,870.

However, Iron Age, the authoritative trade magazine, breaks down the nation's steel capacity into 14 districts, compared with the Institute's six.

The people around Chicago prefer Iron Age's way of doing things, because it gives them the nod in the running battle over who's bigger — Chicago or Pittsburgh?

Iron Age's formula shows the Chicago district has 19.74 per cent of total capacity. Pittsburgh has 17.79 per cent and Philadelphia is third with 13.15 per cent.

Ike Nominates 514 Postmasters

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower has nominated postmasters for seven Pennsylvania cities.

They were included Monday in a list of 514 postmaster nominations, one of the largest sent to the Senate for confirmation in recent years.

Lyle T. Streeter, Easton; Leo J. English, Royal City; Ralph A. Pensyl, Shamokin; Walter F. Rhine, Canonsburg; Leo A. Patterson, Homestead; Fred. G Haddon, Shamokin Dam, and Harry H. Powell Sr., Tamaqua.

NATION'S TEN OUTSTANDING YOUNG MEN

HERE ARE the "Ten Outstanding Young Men of the Nation for 1956," as picked by the National Junior Chamber of Commerce. All are under 36 years old. (International)

Dr. Thomas Dooley, St. Louis, for work with refugees from Communist North Vietnam. He and his staff processed 600,000 in port of Haiphong.

John Patterson, for public service. His father, Alabama attorney general, was murdered in trying to clean up Phenix City, and he is successor.

Rev. Bob Richards, LaVerne, Calif., for his inspiring youth work. Reverend Richards won the Olympic pole vault titles in 1952 and 1956.

Robert Liebenow, Wilmette, Ill., as the first nonmember ever named president of Chicago Board of Trade. Youngest exchange head in nation.

Richard T. Whitcomb, Hampton, Va., for aeronautical research. He formulated the Area Rule, a concept of aircraft design for supersonic speed flight.

R. F. Pederson, New York, for work in political and security affairs of the U. S. in the United Nations, advice on policy, tactics in negotiations.

Dr. H. E. Stephenson, Columbia, Mo., for study with new cardio - vascular surgical techniques leading to better understanding of heart.

Carl Erskine, Anderson, Ind., Brooklyn Dodgers pitcher, as an outstanding example to youth for exemplification of humble Christian living.

Millard Harmon, Auburndale, Mass., for dedication to his calling as an instructor in junior high, although he has received higher-pay offers.

Frank Loo, Honolulu, T. H., as an outstanding civic - minded member of the legal profession, serving charitable and civic organizations.

Reporter Remembers Day When He 'Covered' Nudist Colony

By DOC QUIGG

NEW YORK (UP)—The temperature was a naked 31 degrees (nothing is so stark as a below-freezing figure) when the following arrived by post and set me all a-tremble.

"Dear sir: We have been advised that you have access to the names and addresses of nudist colonies in this area If it is possible for you to furnish us with such a list, we would be most appreciative."

Well . . . I, ah . . . I'm as flattered as I can be and, as the TV funny boys say, that's pretty flattered. But I have no connection with colonies of any nature—nudist, artist, ant, bee, or the American colony in Pago Pago.

Normally I am reticent about my chequered past, but if anyone chances to drop a babushka, I can be forced to talk. Whoever did the above-mentioned advising must have remembered that I did attend a nudist convention once, in line of duty as a reporter.

Property Is Watchword

And you might as well know the awful truth right off: The inside of a nudist camp—judging strictly by what one visitor observed at this particular camp—is one of the most decorous and seemly places you can find anywhere. Propriety is the watchword. A public beach is a den of outlandish ribaldry compared with a nudist colony.

The convention I covered was a cross-section of society. The ages ranged from the 70's down to kids barely able to toddle. Around 300 persons from 30 states attended, mostly family groups.

The top nude at this shindig was Dr. Ilsley Boone, an elderly, pink pear-shaped gent with flowing white hair and a freckle-speckled tummy. Boone, known within the movement as "Uncle Danny," had been a power in American nudism for 20 years.

A rump movement had started within the American Sunbathing Association to depose Uncle Danny as ASA general manager by vote at this, the 21st annual. ASA convention. That's what made it a news story.

They're 'Shady Nudists'

About the only thing new I learned at the three-day proceeding was that some nudists are not sun worshippers but prefer to stay indoors or sit under trees. These are known within the ranks as "shady nudists."

One funny thing happened. A gentleman nudist kept hanging around while I was interviewing people, and I finally asked him what he wanted. "Are you crazy?" he said. "It's me—Syd—printer operator in your own office." He was perfectly disguised by nothing at all.

The convention showed again the overpowering hanker of reporters for puns when writing about nudists. A reporter named Charles McHarry was with me, and he confided he was nursing the phrase 'signs of cleavage' for possible usage. Well, for days our stories were lousy with bare facts, rump movements, goods nudes tonight, naked truths, and full undress debates—but he didn't use his pet

Finally, at the end, Uncle Danny was ousted. My story next day began: "There were signs of cleavage today in American nudism." "You thief!" hollered McHarry. "You stole my lead!" Asked why he never used it, he only shouted: "It's mine!" He has never forgiven me.

Pig-raisers Are Being Warned of Rhinitis Danger

CHICAGO — (UP) Farmers may think their pigs have only a common cold when they sneeze and sniffle, but in reality they may be contracting a serious swine disease, atrophic rhinitis.

This was emphasized anew by the American Veterinary Medical Association which reported that despite repeated warnings about the dangers of this condition there appears to be a growing incidence in swine-producing areas. Death losses are small, but serious economic losses in the form of poor feed usage and general unthriftiness do occur.

This disease causes wasting away of the bones of the nose so that stricken animals often show a peculiar "dish-in" or crooked face, and often are susceptible to respiratory diseases.

Veterinary authorities have outlined a program calling for drastic action to help prevent and eliminate atrophic rhinitis from the nation's swine herds. Under this program, the swine-raiser must be willing either to destroy or isolate all affected pigs until he can market the entire herd.

Farmers wanting to save certain blood lines in purebred herds should isolate all valuable pigs at weaning and at breeding time and have them examined.

Any pig showing the slightest sign of infection should be marketed.

Shriners Plan Fete Saturday

More than 1,200 Shriners from Syria Temple will honor Potentate Hiram P. Ball at a banquet Saturday night in Penn-Sheraton Hotel.

Potentate Ball recently became the head of the 26,000 members of Syria Temple, the largest Shrine in the world.

Dr. Theodore A. Distler, former president of Franklin & Marshall College and now executive director of the Association of American Colleges, will be the main speaker

James B Allan is general chairman of the banquet with Past Potentate Oscar F. Otto, honorary chairman.

Steel to Have Big Year Yet

CLEVELAND (UP)—The steel industry, which nearly matched an all-time monthly production record in January, may still have the biggest production year in his history, according to Steel magazine.

The metalworking publication said the industry is beset by a rash of gloomy forecasts which appear unwarranted by business trends.

According to the magazine steel ingot production in January just about equaled the record set last October when the industry produced 11,048,513 net tons. The January mark was about 22-million tons.

If continued, the January production mark would mean a yearly production of 132-million net tons.

Steel said no one expected the year's output to reach such proportions, but there are predictions for a record 120-million tons with mill operations averaging 90 per cent of capacity. Since mills have increased capacities, they can turn out record tonnages while operating at less than capacity.

The business trend department of the magazine noted in its 32 indexes that 16 showed gains and 15 reported losses. A year ago, 17 were higher and 15 lower.

The adverse business forecasts apparently arise from a dip in machine tool orders which were $57-million in December compared to the year's monthly average of $77-million, Steel said.

However, builders whose business fortunes often parallel experiences in other capital lines, are not concerned about an order dip below the levels of 1955 and 1956.

The magazine said the builders welcome a decline in order backlogs to more manageable levels.

Sweepstakes Winner Tells of Problems

BOSTON (UP) — So you'd like to win the Irish Sweepstakes. Well, take it from Antonio Sena, this can have drawbacks.

Two years ago he was announced as a $138,000 winner in the Sweepstakes. After taxes, Sena, a Roxbury barber, netted $54,000

He said that because he wouldn't give or lend theem part of his fortune many of his barbershop customers quit him.

Urges War on Civil Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (UP)—Rep. William Colmer (D-Miss) said today the southern bloc in the House will "do everything we honorably can do, under limited parliamentary procedures, to prevent enactment" of a civil rights bill.

Colmer pledged a fight to prolong House hearings on civil rights legislation beyond their scheduled Thursday cutoff date.

The President's civil rights bill, one of a number before the subcommittee, would create a civil rights division within the Justice Department, establish a bi - partisan commission to investigate civil rights violations, strengthen voting rights and give the government authority to bring civil suits to prevent civil rights violations.

Rep. Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY), sponsor of President Eisenhower's four-point civil rights program, warned Monday that prolonging House consideration of civil rights legislation would lessen chances of its approval in the Senate.

He implied that the greater the delay in getting the legislation to the Senate, the lesser the chances would become of wearing out any southern filibuster over a civil rights bill that might develop in the Senate.

Colmer, a leader of the House southern bloc, attempted to prevent the subcommittee from holding hearings Monday afternoon, invoking a rule against committee sessions while the House itself is in session unless the House gives its unanimous comment.

Your Health—

Businessmen Are Often Careless About Health

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

They say no one can tell the boss what to do. But I'm going to tell all of you executives what to do right now.

If you haven't had a thorough physical examination within the last year, call your doctor—or the company physician—and arrange for one sometime later this week.

Statistics indicate you probably need it

I know a lot more about you executives than you might think

For instance, I know that most of you young executives under 40 are physically strong, athletic, energetic and ambitious. You work from 10 to 12 hours a day because you enjoy the combat of business

I also know that probably less than 10 per cent of you are in perfect health; the remainder have some sort of disease And about half of you don't even know it.

Businessmen are good candidates for peptic ulcer. Although many of you undoubtedly are bothered with one, the incidence is not so great as the average person might believe. Besides, most of you with an ulcer are well aware of your ailment.

While heart disease is also fairly common among young executives, many victims are unaware they have it. I venture to guess that about 10 per cent of the nation's executives have a heart ailment without knowing it

About one out of every nine probably has insufficient thyroid gland secretion, with an excess of fatty elements of the blood This, we believe, is a factor in hardening of the arteries

About two per cent of our executives have cancer Again, most of them don't even suspect it.

Between the ages of 40 and 45, the executive's health may become even more of a problem, especially if he begins losing his hair, puts on excess weight and finally learns what it is to become tired

Most of you executives in this age group find that you are less active physically and that you are unable to work more than eight hours a day without strain.

Still, you are no less ambitious than the younger man. Your preoccupation with your work continues — and you have a tendency to ignore the early signs of disease.

You may be a careful businessman, but you are likely to be careless about your health.

'Bengal Lancers' Another Casualty Of TV Season

NEW YORK (UP)—The channel swim . .

NBC-TV's "The Bengal Lancers' is the umpteenth casualty of the current season. It'll be buried in March

The outfit that packages 'Ozark Jubilee" is pitching a country-type quiz show, "Pig in a Poke," at ABC-TV. Corn cribs will replace isolation booths and contestants would be asked to go the whole hog, it says here.

Buster Crabbe, sometimes known as "Captain Gallant," is preparing a new underwater adventure series for TV. No promotion for Buster though—it'll be called "Captain Fathom."

Milton Berle's new half-hour filmed show for NBC-TV, "Follow That Man," is budgeted in at a heady $60,000 per . . . Judy Busch, another fugitive from the Arthur Godfrey stable, goes into "Bernadine," a 20th Century flicker.

"Two For The Money," which returns to CBS-TV on March 23 (it replaces "You're On Your Own"), will have some new juice shot into it. The jackpot will be upped along with the length of emcee Sam Levenson's monologs.

Three Children Drowned, Mother Is Unconscious

CHICAGO (UP)—A father returned home from work Monday night to find his three children drowned in the bathtub and his wife unconscious in an apparent suicide attempt.

Richard Puetz, 32, of suburban Park Ridge, told the coroner's office his house was filled with gas when he arrived. He said his wife was lying unconscious by a stove with her head resting on the oven door.

Mrs. Beverly Puetz, 26, was revived and reported in good condition at Psycopathic Hospital. Her husband, an official of an Evanston department store, said she had been suffering from a nervous condition but was not under a doctor's care.

Authorities estimated the children, 3-year-old twin girls Debra Lynn and Cory Lynn, and 5-year-old John, had been dead about four hours.

Puetz said he called his wife early in the afternoon and she sounded "happy." He said he called again later, and hurried home when nobody answered.

Tanks Patrol The Streets of Port au Prince

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (UP)—Armed troops and tanks today patrolled the streets of Port au Prince where the public resorted to the second general strike in two months to get rid of an unpopular president.

No incidents were reported and tourists visiting Haiti were reported safe although inconvenienced by closed shops and crippled transportation. Plane service out of the country was halted.

The public's strike forced the resignation of Joseph Nemours Pierre Louis, who assumed the temporary office in December. A similar strike had ousted Dictator Paul E. Magloire then.

However, acceptance of Pierre Louis' resignation was held up until Haiti's political leaders can agree on a provisional president who can bring the paralyzing strike to an end. There are seven candidates in the still unscheduled general election.

TV Columnist Gets Big Break

By DOC QUIGG

NEW YORK (UP)— Our television editor, a beamish broth of a Brooklynite, came into the office with a big grin dimpling his screen-hardened phiz. He looked all around.

Then he whispered: "Don't tell anybody."

"Don't tell 'em what?" asked his cellmates.

He peered down the room to see if the boss was safely at his desk, too far away to hear. He was.

"My TV set conked out," our man said gleefully, "and I've been — READING. Saturday, Sunday, and Monday night, I read. And, sh-h-h-h! You know what? I LIKE it!"

"What've you been reading?"

A New World

"Books! Everything! It's a whole new world!"

"But we thought you told us, once before, that you read philosophy at nights—you told us about Spinoza and Epictetus and. . ."

"Oh that!" said the TV editor. "That was only in tiny spurts."

"How come?"

"Well, I only read philosphy during the commercials. As soon as the commercial came on, I would pick up the book and read fast and furious and jam in as much philosophy as I could—but it was only for a minute or two at a time. Soon as the commercial was over, I'd have to start watching again."

"And now?"

Turns To Radio

"Now. . .no TV. . .this is wonderful! Reading is for me!"

You know, maybe he has stumbled onto something there. I'm told there is a world of information in books that never even gets hinted at on television. Sometimes, I have heard, there are ideas, notions, and tidy language bundles that just seem to jump out of books at you, like Lassie jumping at a burglar or Sgt. Friday leaping at a bad guy.

And here's something else new. The other day, by accident, I turned on the radio. Terrific. Really terrific. Amos 'n' Andy; Bob and Ray; soft music, sweet music, fast music, muscular music.

People in our house were fascinated with it. Didn't turn on the TV set for maybe an hour or two.

Some day soon, you know what I'm going to do? I'm going to turn on the radio and get me some real nice music. And then—there's no way to test this thing out without actually doing it.

I'm going to read a book. I'll do it if it kills me."

Price Drop for State Farmers

By UNITED PRESS

A drop in the price of wholesale milk and beef cattle sent the index of prices received by Pennsylvania farmers for principal products down five points for the month ended Jan. 15, it was announced today.

Although advances were shown in crops and meat animals other than beef cattle, the state De-artment of Agriculture said the advances were more than offset by the lower prices for milk, chickens and eggs.

Prices paid by the farmer in interest, wages and taxes also climbed during the month, the department said. The index of prices paid by farmers advanced two points and was 11 points higher than the previous year.

All major crops showed advances over Dec. 15 price averages, with buckwheat holding steady. The increases ranged from one to five cents a bushel for other crops.

The crop prices index rose four points to 230 per cent of the 1910-14 base level or 31 points higher than Jan. 15 of last year.

Soil Conervation

Delegates from 12 Pennsylvania counties met with soil conservation experts from throughout the United States yesterday at a national meeting of soil conservationists at St. Louis, Mo.

The 40 Pennsylvanians represent the largest delegation from the state ever to attend the annual get-together of the National Association of Soil Conservation Districts.

The delegates, all district soil conservation directors, represent Adams, Chester, Clarion, Franklin, Jefferson, Lehigh, Northumberland, Perry, Potter, Schuylkill, Wayne and York counties. State Agriculture Secretary William L. Henning is to attend the session today.

Brownies Seldom Beat Monessen at Home

Brownsville High's 42-41 decision over Monessen the other night was the Brownies first success at the expense of the Greyhounds on their own floor since 1949. Oddly enough, the Hounds have lost few games at Brownsville, even though the floor is one of the most difficult in the WPIAL to play . . . Just for the record, Brownsville has handled Monessen twice away from home since '49. The Brownies clipped MHS in 1951 at the Donora floor, then earned a win the following year at the Monessen Junior High gym . . . Incidentally last Friday's win was featured in the Brownsville newspaper with huge black type. All of which was a real tribute to Monessen's basketball success. Even though the Hounds are lagging behind as "also-rans" this year, they're still the team everyone wants to beat.

* * *

According to MHS coach Frank Janosik, his dribblers will not take part in the upcoming Westmoreland County Tounrament. "We've already played in the Ford City tourney and according to WPIAL rules a school is permitted to play in only one tournament a season," explains Frank . . . That's too bad. The current Greyhounds would have had a good chance in the county event . . . Ralph Kiner has built a set of private grass tennis courts for his wife Nancy Chaffe. Which is pretty good indication that Kiner is still earning a few bucks in baseball.

Donora Cagers Challenge City Quint

The unbeaten Donora Croatian Club basketball team has formally challenged the Monessen Cro-Ams to a game on February 28 at the Donora High gym. The tussle will be part of a triple-header with all proceeds going toward the March of Dimes. Another attraction will match the Pitt gridders against the Donora City League All-Stars . . . By the way, both the Donora and Monessen quints boast unbeaten records at the moment in their respective City League . . . Gil Shoaf, a Brownsville High grad back in 1953, has been drafted by the Philadelphia Eagles. Shoaf was quite a tackle the past four seasons at Wabash College in Crawfordville, Ind.

* * *

When Washington High mauled Union High, 85-26, recently, Prexie Coach Bill Laughlin mercifully pulled his high scoring ace James (Beanie) Gordon early in the game after he had tallied a "mere" 13 points . . . Speaking of Laughlin, he's apparently taken on a new character this season. He raised a big fuss with the officiating during a visit to Monessen, then argued with the crowd at Charleroi last week . . . Brownsville's Bob Chuey has been averaging 19.8 points per game in Section 5 play this season.

* * *

Three MHS Players Average 10 Points

Three Monessen High cagers have been averaging better than 10 points per game in league play. Carl Crawley has a 12.8 average; Frank Crisi, 11.2, and Maurice Mathieu, 10.3 . . . In Charleroi, they've been introducing the Cougars in "big league" fashion. The lights are dimmed in the gym and a spotlight picks up the players as their names are called over the public address system . . . Jack Rabbits, a Jeannette native who played both football and baseball at West Virginia University, has signed a diamond contract with the Detroit Tigers. Rabbits also picked up experience with Scottdale in the old Big Ten League.

Today's Sports Parade —

Two Uncoming Bouts To Test Patterson

By JACK CUDDY

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (UP) — What kind of a heavyweight champion is Floyd Patterson?

Right now that's the biggest one-man question in sports. It may be answered partially this year if the youngest heavyweight ruler in history survives his two planned title defenses in June and September.

Both fights are expected to be at Yankee Stadium, and the probable challengers are Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson and Eddie Mache.

At 21, the streamlined boxer-puncher from St. Albans, N.Y., apparently has the body and the fighting philosophy to make him one of the greatest champions of all time.

The ring philosophy that governs his training and fighting is very important. He and Manager Cus D'Amato maintain steadfastly that "the perfect fighter is one who can hit his opponent a stunning blow without getting hit himself."

No Gambler In The Ring

In other words, just because Patterson is a knockout puncher who can hit harder than most of his opponents, he doesn't gamble on taking a blow in order to land one. Even when his man has "opened up" in an exchange, Patterson still is just as alert on defense as offense. He hews to this philosophy more closely than any big-time heavyweight since Gene Tunney.

His ability to avoid ancient Archie Moore's punches in their exchanges at Chicago, meanwhile ripping Archie with combinations, was a feature of his championship victory, Nov. 30.

However, whether young Floyd is half as good as he looked against 40-year-old Archie is a big question. Certainly Moore didn't put up half the fight expected—either because of his own retrogression or because of Patterson's ability. And Floyd flattened him twice in the fifth round for a knockout.

It must be recalled that our new champion was not nearly as impressive six months before that when he won a split 12-round decision over Hurricane Jackson. However, Floyd fought the last five rounds with a broken hand that June night in Madison Square Garden. And most writers agreed he won decisively. The two judges favored him 8-4 and 7-5, but Referee Harry Kessler—who often is out of line in his voting—had Jackson ahead, 6-5-1.

Two-fold Dvantage

Patterson's offense-defense balance may be not only (1) his winning method, but (2) a method that will enable him to hold the title for many years because he absorbs a minimum of punishment in the ring. It's punishment, rather than age, that washes up most fighters.

The new champion has a smart business philosophy as well as his ring beliefs. He is making plans to become a public relations man for a large industrial firm while he holds the title. And in order to prevent most of his earnings on that job from being absorbed by taxes, he may take a large part of his pay as stock in the industrial organization—making it a "capital gains" deal.

Because of taxes, Floyd plans no more than two defenses in any year. What will he pay in 1960 or 1965 if he's still champion then? And will he be champion then?

Bellmar High at Monessen Tonight

Trotters Here Tomorrow

Take on House of David Five

Basketball at its best — and funniest — will be offered to Mon Valley fans tomorrow when the Harlem Globetrotters appear at the Monessen High gym.

The Trotters will match dribbles with the almost equally famous bearded basketballers from the Hounds of David. The fun will begin at 9 p. m.

As usual the Trotters are undefeated in their current tour. Down through 30 years of basketball, they've won 5,395 games while losing just 303.

Tomorrow they'll be favored to add to the list, even though House of David boasts a top notch quint as well.

The Trotters, who have been guided to fame and fortune by Abe Saperstein, will hit Monessen with an eight man roster. The smallest member of the cast stands a mere 6-3.

Trotters Squad

The Trotters squad includes Andy Shepard, 6-4, of Michigan State Normal; Willie Cerf, 6-6 of Drake; Norm Lee, 6-4, of Dayton, O.; Stan Burrell, 6-4, of Astoria, N. Y.; Charles Holton, of St. Norbert College; Bob Williams, 6-7, of Florida A & M; Oris Hill, 6-7 of Texas College; and Henry Kean, 6-3, of Tennessee State University.

The House of David players are not quite as big. The roster will show Don Tamulis, 6-3, of Milton College; Al Ingber, 5-10, of Military College; Jerry Schumacher, 6-5; Carthage College; Mel Sheary, 6-1, of Nebraska Weslyan; Ed Greicius, 6-3, of DePaul University; Jim Keller, 6-5, of Miami University; Travis Barker, 6-5, of Community College, Tom Gatzek, 5-11, of TCU; and Bob Moroski, 6-7, with no college affiliation.

The playing manager is George Anderon, 5-10, of Benton Harbor, Michigan.

Israelite Cult

The team is sponsored by the Israelite House of David cult. Some of the players follow the life of the community, growing beards and living on a vegetarian diet.

In addition to the colorful game, the Trotters will bring along three side-show attractions.

A table tennis exhibition will be staged by Bourne and Anderson; Mike Pickering will entertain with juggling; Don Philip will travel the gym on a unicycle and the Carlells will do some Wild West Lassoing.

Sponsoring the game are the Monessen Knights of Columbus.

Rostraver Plays Host To Hurst High Tonight

Rostraver's sagging basketballers will have to regain their old form tonight if they are to stay in the Section 10 race.

Coach George Everett's boys will play host to Hurst in a "must" assignment. A loss will virtually erase them for title contention.

Earlier in the year, Rostraver dropped a four point verdict at Hurst, bowing 55-51. The Leps figure to do much better on their home courts.

However some observers feel that Rostraver has suddenly gone "stale." Admittedly the Leps didn't look very good last Friday, losing 44-42 to lightly regarded Dunbar.

Have to Win

That loss put the Leps squarely behind the eight ball. They have to win all of their games from here on out if their championship ambitions are to be realized.

Hurst and Derry Twp. are both tied for the league lead with 5-2 records.

Derry will be idle tonight. Other Section 10 games will send Dunbar to Scottdale and Ligonier to Ramsay.

Scottdale and Ramsay are slight favorites in those tussles.

Three games are scheduled in Section 5. Bellmar will go to Monessen, Brownsville to Donora and Monongahela to Charleroi.

Surprising Record

Brownsville, with a surprising 4-3 record in league play, is a slight favorite at Donora, while Charleroi anticipates no trouble with Monongahela.

The unbeaten Cougars have won six straight league games and they are strong favorites to close out the current season without a loss in section play.

Here's the way the Daily Independent sports department picks tonight's games:

Bellmar at MONESSEN (12)
Brownsville at DONORA (3)
Monongahela at CHARLEROI (30)
Hurst at ROSTRAVER (3)
Dunbar at SCOTTDALE (18)
Ligonier at RAMSAY (3)
Season Record: Right 97, wrong 33.

Eubanks Fight Future Hinges On Commission

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Welterweight Johnny Eubanks' fistic future hung in balance today as state Athletic Commission doctors studied the results of an eye examination.

The results of the examination by Dr. Thomas M. Evans, an eye specialist, were withheld pending study by the commission's medical advisory board.

Athletic Commission member Paul Sullivan ordered the examinations after state police reported Eubanks failed the routine visual requirements for driver's license.

Eubanks is scheduled to fight Wilf Greaves in a 10-round bout here Feb. 25, but Sullivan said the fight—and Eubanks' ring future—depended on the degree of impairment of his sight.

Monessen Juniors At Washington

Monessen's Junior High basketballers will visit Washington tonight in quest of their second win of the Section 2 season.

The Junior Hounds have had a rough time so far, scoring just one success in five league outings. That lone win was at the expense of Washington earlier in the year by a 40-25 count.

In other Section 2 tussles today, undefeated Donora will go to Monongahela and Charleroi will appear at California.

The Donora-Monongahela game looks like a thriller. Donora has a 6-0 league record while Monongahela owns a 4-1 chart.

In Section 3, the big tussle will send Carroll Twp. to Vernon. Both teams have 5-1 league records.

Other games will show Rostraver at Perryopolis and Marion at Fallowfield.

Big Ten Seeks Looser Control Of Television

CHICAGO (UP)—The Big Ten wants looser controls on football television to forestall legislative pressure which could force the conference out of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, Illinois Athletic Director Doug Mills speculated today.

The conference has proposed that the 1957 NCAA TV plan should have only one restriction: That no school may appear on video more than three times, regardless of the size of the network or area covered.

"If that goes through," Mills said, "I think it would kill the bills which would force our schools to televise."

Legislation has been introduced in both Ohio and Indiana to force state schools to televise more games, and Mills said that in his opinion, should the schools be forced to get out of the NCAA, other Big Ten members would get out too.

Mills, Region Four representative on NCAA TV Committee, will fight for the Big Ten plan today at the opening of a three day committee session to devise the 1957 plan. Hearings for proposals from interested parties will be held today and the committee was expected to work the next two days devising the program.

Steubenville Cager Ruled Ineligible

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio (UP) — John Flowers, second leading scorer on the Steubenville College basketball team, was declared ineligible today for further sports activity due to scholastic deficiency.

Second stringer Dave Stasiulewicz also was declared ineligible for a similar reason. Both will not be able to play until next fall.

Flowers, of Ft. Wayne, Ind., also was the Barons' second leading rebounder. He was averaging 14.4 points and 12 rebounds per game.

Hart Wins 11th Straight but Fans Unhappy

NEW YORK (UP) — Garnett (Sugar) Hart, remarkable young Philadelphia welterweight was offered his first Madison Square Garden fight today because of his 11th straight victory in a nearly riotous ending at St. Nicholas Arena Monday night.

For almost 20 minutes the 2,176 fans at Monday night's TV scrap barraged the ring with twisted programs, paper cups, cigar butts and banana peels as they yelled their protests against Hart's seventh-round technical knockout victory over Barry Allison of Springfield, Mass. One fist fight broke out at ringside.

As 20-year-old Hart tentatively accepted the Garden offer today, he added it probably would have been better Monday night "if Referee Harry Ebbets hadn't stopped the fight when he did."

Bad Beating

Ebbets, a former light - heavyweight contender, said, "I stopped the fight because Allison was taking a bad beating — taking too many punches. He might have been badly hurt."

Ebbets intervened after 22 seconds of the seventh round.

Canes Rated Outside Chance of Upsetting Fading Greyhounds

Monessen High's current basketballers — who have already suffered the indignity of two Section 5 losses in the same season — will try to prevent further embarrassment tonight when they play host to visiting Bellmar.

Comparative records would seem to indicate an easy time for the Greyhounds. Earlier in the year, they whacked Bellmar at the tiny Cane gym by a 64-44 score.

Still Monessen may not have things its own way. The Canes have been coming along since that previous setback and they are playing their finest ball of the season at the moment.

Moreover the Monessen morale may be at a low point. The Hounds lost their last assignment, 42-41, in Brownsville.

Muff Hope

In the process they probably muffed all hope of overtaking Charleroi in the current Section 5 campaign. And that's a real blow.

Thus it would appear that Coach Jack Flora's Bellmar boys have a chance. They certainly have nothing to lose and much prestige to gain.

Flora will probably start Jim Bitonti, 5-8; John Hewitt, 5-11; Bill Schmidt, 6-1; Jim Campbell, 5-10; and Bob Beggs, 6-1. The sixth man is Ron Schmidt, 6-1.

That Bellmar quint has been playing good ball of late. The Canes came out on top in three of their last four assignments.

Usual Lineups

Monessen will more-than-likely go with its usual lineup: Frank Crisi, 6-0; Dick DiBiaso, 6-1; Carl Crawley, 6-0, Maurice Mathieu, 5-9; and John Bogovich, 5-10.

The Hounds still have a faint mathematical hope in Section 5 and while that exists Coach Frank Janosik can not afford any radical experiments.

Monessen's overall season record now stands at 10-7. Bellmar has won six while losing eight games.

Mantle Feels Score's Toughest

NEW YORK (UP) — Mickey Mantle admits that Cleveland southpaw Herb Score gave him the most trouble last season.

Asked why Score is so tough for him, the Yankee center fielder said, "I don't know. . .I just can't hit him good."

"Everybody knows he's fast, but he's also got a good curve ball," Mickey added during a press conference Monday. "And when Herb learns a little more control, brother, he's going to be even tougher to hit."

City League Cancels Third Round

Loop Officials Take Prompt Action after Forfeit Decisions

The regular season of the City Basketball League came to an abrupt end last night as two of the games wound up in forfeit decisions.

Both the Cro-Ams and Big Five won forfeits when their foes failed to show up with enough players.

All of which prompted league president George Nicksich to cancel third round action, scheduled to start next Thursday.

Instead, league managers will meet on Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in Memorial Civic Center to discuss the issue.

More-then-likely, the league season will be terminated, immediately. Last night's games concluded second round play.

Lists Reasons

Actually Nicksich said more than the forfeits were involved in his decision to cancel the start of the third round. He listed these considerations:

1. The league is already two dates behind in its schedule and will lag even further because of upcoming tourneys.

2. John (Dibby) DiBiaso is having trouble arranging for officials.

3. The Junior High gym has been contracted only up to the week of March 4th.

Thus it would appear that the league has no choice but to make playoff plans immediately. If loop officials have their way, the playoffs may start as early as next Saturday.

Just one game was actually played last night. Viaduct rolled over the Yellow Jackets, 60-48.

Win Forfeits

The Cro-Ams won a forfeit from East End while Big Five took a similar decision from the Cips.

The ruling gave the Cro-Ams a 16-0 record for the year and set the stage for the first undefeated record in City League history.

Five teams apparently will take part in the playoffs if the cancellation plan is not challenged. The Cro-Ams, Viaduct and Big Five rank one-two-three in the standings.

Tied for fourth are Fuoco AC and the Ozarks.

Mike Young tallied 29 points in the one-sided tussle. Chips DeFelicis chipped in with a dozen.

Lineups follow:

Viaduct 60

Young, 12-5-29; DiCenzio, 5-1-11; DeFelicis, 3-0-12; Cipriani, 1-0-2; Mitnick, 3-0-6. Totals, 27-6-60.

Yellow Jackets 48

Rullo, 1-2-4; Wilkins, 0-1-1; Wallace, 8-0-16; Laatu, 4-1-9; Sherwin, 3-1-7; Hough, 5-1-11. Totals, 21-6-48.

Dukes Defeat Niagara, 73-52, But Dave Misses

By UNITED PRESS

Duquesne University's Dave Ricketts and Washington & Jefferson's winning Presidents provided the high spots in Monday night's district basketball activity.

Ricketts sank two free throw shots before missing his third in Duquesne's 73-52 victory over Niagara to extend his consecutive foul shot record to 42. It was his first foul miss since Jan. 3. His string of 42 is a record for major college play.

Ricketts was high scorer with 16 points. The lead switched six times in the first half and it still was a tight game in the second half until the final 12 minutes, when the Dukes held the visitors scoreless.

The Washington & Jefferson Presidents went down to Bethany, W. Va., to record their ninth consecutive victory and 11th of the season against a single loss. They defeated Bethany, 81-73, leading from shortly after the start of the game. The halftime score was 49-28.

Jim Bress was high for the Presidents with 24 points. Rudy Yaksic led the losers with 18.

Seventh Loss

It was the seventh loss for Bethany, which has won eight.

In other games, Steubenville College defeated visiting Carnegie Tech, 77-50, and Baldwin - Wallace defeated Westminster at Berea, Ohio, 88-77.

The Steubenville Barons recorded their 38th consecutive home triumph. Paced by Jim Smith's 20 points, they led all the way. Frank Sobolewski was high for the losers with 16.

Baldwin-Wallace got off to a fast start and led at halftime, 44-30. Westminster outscored the home team in the second half, 47 to 44. Ed Wilson paced the winners with 24 points, while Jim Riley led the Titans with 21.

The loss evened the Titans' record at 7-7.

Five Teams Battle for Honors In Big Ten Basketball Race

By UNITED PRESS

Forget just about everything that's happened so far in that torrid Big Ten basketball race—Monday night's defeats of Ohio State and Purdue have turned it into a brand new five-team battle.

The 96-89 walloping handed to Ohio State by Illinois and a 66-54 beating given Purdue by Michigan means that all four of these teams, plus Indiana, are even in the vital "lost column" at two defeats each.

The only difference now is in "games won," where Ohio State has six, Purdue five, and the other three have four each — throwing the door open for any one in the group to drive for the title.

BonSalle Bows Out

Illinois, an upset victim itself only last Saturday, led most of the way in beating Ohio State for the first time in 12 years on the Illini court. Illinois star George BonSalle, ineligible from now on because of scholastic troubles, made his farewell with 27 points to pace the victory although Frank Howard of Ohio State took game scoring honors with 30 points. After Ohio State held an early lead, Illinois went ahead, 38-36, at the 14 minute mark of the first half and never trailed again.

Ron Kramer, All-America football end, paced Michigan to victory at Ann Arbor with 17 points and his two free throws midway in the second half put the Wolverines ahead to stay, 48-47. Six-six Lamar Lundy led Purdue with 14 points.

Indiana stayed in the running for the crown with a 74-56 romp over Northwestern as Archie Dees, the Big Ten's leading scorer, showed the way with 20 points.

Bradley Sets Record

Bradley set a school scoring record with a 100-73 win over Portland, its eighth straight win. Iowa State bounced back from its Saturday defeat by Kansas to nip Colorado, 72-71, almost blowing a 10-point lead before stalling to victory. Brigham Young defended its slight hold on first place in the Skyline Conference with a 73 - 60 victory over New Mexico and St. Louis nearly blew an 11-point lead before downing Drake, 78-72.

In other leading games: West Virginia preserved its perfect Southern Conference record with an 89-57 rout of VMI as Hot Rod Hundley scored 34; Washington (Mo.) beat Iowa for the first time since 1928, 62-54; Kansas State took second place in the Big Seven with a 79-53 win over Nebraska; Joe Stevens' 25 points led Wichita in a 96-76 win over Detroit and Henry Kemple's 22 points led Oklahoma A&M to a 50-42 win over Tulsa in the Missouri Valley Conference.

MFL to Elect New Board of Directors

A new Board of Directors will be elected tonight when the Monessen Midget Football League reorganizes.

The meeting will take place in the Monessen High gym immediately after the Monessen-Bellmar basketball game.

League officials said that tonight's session is for the general membership.

Parents of the players are particularly urged to attend and to take part in the balloting.

Year-end reports will be submitted during the meeting by Secretary Harold Wilkins and Treasurer John Mallino. They have indicated that MFL's financial position at the moment is "healthy."

Depends on Support

However the officers pointed out that the continued success of the league depends on the continued support of a large number of persons.

In the past, the MFL program has received excellent support from the community.

Nine Directors are to be elected tonight to the 17-member Board. Eight other Directors serve by virtue of their standings in the community.

Doctors Told to Be Careful When Using 'Miracle Drugs'

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UP) — Even the most useful of the so-called "miracle drugs" can do unforeseen, complicating and occasionally fatal things to body chemistry. Two doctors have just told the profession to watch its step with cortisone.

What cortisone can do is stymie the body's chemical defenses against infection - causing bacteria and so permit death-dealing micro-organisms to take over. Every doctor must know of the possibility but it has never been sufficiently "emphasized" in medical literature, said Drs. Frank P. Smith and E. A. Cleve.

They gave it no little emphasis in reporting six cases of theirs in which this very thing seemed to have happened, with fatal results in three. They also cited a little-known recent experiment with rabbits which demonstrated rather clearly what could happen.

Rabbits Injected

That experimenter was Dr. L. Thomas. He injected living streptococci into rabbits which are naturally "resistant" to those bacteria.

The site of infection became inflamed, showing the response of their chemical defenses, but there was prompt healing and recovery. But when injections of streptococci were preceded by injections of cortisone, the result was quite different.

For a few days the rabbits seemed healthy. Suddenly they died. Microscopic studies revealed that their bodies had been "converted into living culture mediums" for streptococci. Pretty much the same thing had happened in the six human cases, the doctors said.

The six occurred in the Gorgas Hospital in the Canal Zone where the doctors are staff members. (Dr. Cleve is a colonel in the Army's Medical Corps.) Their report was given wide circulation in the profession through the New England Journal of Medicine.

Cortisone is a hormone of the cortex of the adrenal gland which is made synthetically in chemical laboratories. It has a number of man-made derivatives, and the doctors specified that they were talking about all members of the "cortisone family."

Treatment For Arthritis

Cortisone and its derivates are widely used in the treatment of arthritis and other rheumatic conditions and their temporary effect sometimes is miraculous. The reporting doctors pointed to the absence of evicence that they ever get at the cause of disease and bring about a cure.

"Rather," they said, "cortisone modifies the response of the host to the disease, and this may be of advantage in certain situation.s (But) it would be expected that modificaton of the host's reaction might also suppress certain beneficial defense mechanisms."

This, they said, had been demonstrated by animal experiments, by their six cases, and by a scattering of similar reports in the literature. Therefore, "emphasis" was needed—and caution.

PUC Hearing On Viaduct Near Butler

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Public Utility Commission today scheduled another hearing for Butler Feb. 27 on state highway Department plans for a new viaduct to carry "Pickle Gate" road over railroad tracks in the Lyndora section of Butler.

The department had petitioned the commission for a delay until Sept. 1 to complete the project. Instead, the commission slated the hearing to determine why so much more time is needed to complete plans for the project.

A group of complainants, including the Butler Chamber of Commerce, protested the proposed delay in making the improvement over Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and Bessemer and Lake Erie Railroad tracks. The complainants charged dangerous conditions exist at the grade crossing.

Another Newsprint Firm Raises Prices

MONTREAL (UP)—International Paper Sales Company Inc. today became the sixth Canadian newsprint company to announce a $4 per ton price increase effective March 1.

Vernon E. Johnson, president of the parent company, Canadian International Paper Company, said the price boost "of approximately 3 per cent reflects only a portion of the increase in the cost of labor, transportation, pulpwood and other materials that have occurred during 1956."

The increases bring the New York delivered price to $134 per ton.

Guernsey Bull Is Sold by Dairyman

Cyrus P. Markle, of West Newton, R. D., has sold the registered Noble's Sterling, according to the American Guernsey Cattle Club.

The purchaser was Elmer D. Schrock, of Grantsville, Md.

This bull is out of the Guernsey cow, Charmel's King's Mitzie, that has an official production record of 10,234 pounds of milk and 453 pounds of fat, made on three times daily milking in 365 days. He was sired by McDonald Farms High Noble Peer.

NEW HAIRDO FOR TEEN-AGE IDOL — U. S. STYLE — After Elvis Presley, the rage of the nation's teen-agers, recently took his pre-induction physical at the Memphis, Tenn., recruiting station, there were published reports that the young man with the guitar and the sideburns from Tupelo, Miss., was promised he could forego the regulation haircut after he was inducted. The Army denied that any of its personnel made any statements "concerning the retention of his (Presley's) hair style." And here is Central Press artist Matt Walsh's conception of how Rock 'n' Roller Elvis Presley will look after he had been given a GI regulation haircut.

Both Sentiment and Humor In Valentines This Season

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UP) — Sprightly humor vies with lavender and old lace on the colorful valentines Americans will exchange by the millions this year to mark Feb. 14 as the feast day of the patron saint of lovers.

The casual, carefree pace of modern times is reflected in the subtle, rib-tickling whimsy of valentines that have been styled in the "contemporary" manner, according to a spokesman for Hallmark cards. Many offer humorous tributes of affection that would have gained little appreciation in earlier years.

For example, consider a large valentine that shows a melancholy goat seated at a table contemplating a stein of frothy suds. Proclaims the card sadly, "There'll never be another ewe."

Or the valentine that shows a primitive couple, nose-to-nose, as they spin yo-yo tops. Its message: "You for me . . . I like the simple things."

Those who incline to the sentimental will find a host of valentines that mirror the traditional romantic atmosphere of St. Valentine's Day. Especially striking are those that have been styled in the fashion of the Victorian era, to capture the feeling of the golden age of romance for today's lovers.

For the first time in decades, valentine senders will be able to choose elaborate cards that unfold to reveal castles and gardens in which cupids and love birds frolic. These full-dimensional cards are authentic replicas, complete with red crepe paper accordions, of the celebrated "mechanical" valentines imported from Germany at the turn of the century.

Elegance is present, too, in large expensive valentines. Sachets, scalloped borders and extensive use of attachments make these valentines true keepsakes for those who receive them. Some convey gifts of costume jewelry—such as a heartshaped brooch studded with rhinestones.

With each passing year, valentines have taken on new meaning as expressions of friendship as well as of affection. The result has been the exchange of valentine greetings among many persons without romantic connections.

Special cards now are available to wish a happy St. Valentine's Day to almost every relative, to mark a birthday or anniversary that falls on Feb. 14 or just to say "hello" to a friend or acquaintance.

U. S. Steel Corp. President Looks 'For Good Year'

HOUSTON, Tex. (UP)—Clifford F. Hood, president of United States Steel Corp., said today he is "looking for a good year in 1957."

"We have basically full employment, and with that it is difficult to see how you can be very down in the mouth," he said.

Hood, head of the country's top steel producing concern, stopped over in Houston enroute to College Station, Tex., where he was to address Texas A&M College students today.

Hood says U. S. Steel sees nothing in the economic winds to affect the company's capital expansion program.

"We have a number of plans that are already authorized and there will undoubtedly be no cutback on plans that have been authorized," he said.

Hood said U. S. Steel has about $775 million in unexpended balances on the books and that it will be spent "as rapidly as we can" on assigned projects.

Hood said U. S. Steel "has in mind no general price increases" but that a way must be found to increase earnings to finance expansion.

"We are hoping for legislative recognition of the need for a more liberal depreciation allowance," he said.

Industrial Index Up for State, Surveys Show

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UP) —The Pennsylvania State University reported today that industrial activity in the state in December was one per cent above the same month in 1955 but down 2 per cent from the November level.

The Penn State Bureau of Business Research said its index of Industrial Activity for December stood at 119 per cent of the 1947-49 average.

The bureau said the index for the entire year of 1956 was 5 per cent higher than 1955. The index is based on coal production, employe hours in manufacturing and industrial power sales.

New December records were set in telephones, bank debits, factory payrolls, industrial power sales, life insurance sales, steel production, department store sales and postal receipts.

Factory hours and employment were the best since 1953 and bituminous coal production the highest since 1952.

Declines from 1955 were registered by crude petroleum, hotel room occupancy, carloadings and motor vehicle sales.

Anthracite coal production was at the lowest level in any recent year and building contracts were the smallest since 1952.

Nasser Holds Military Meeting Over Israel

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UP) — Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser was reported today to be holding top-level military conferences as result of Israel's refusal to give up the Gaza Strip and territory along the Gulf of Aqaba.

The state controlled Cairo Radio demanded that the United Nations impose economic and military sanctions against Israel to force its withdrawal and said the UN charter provided this course as result of Israel's defiance.

But all indications were that Israel was prepared to hold onto the area even if the UN does impose sanctions. Pinhas Lavon, secretary of the Israel Labor Federation, warned only Saturday that "sanctions may come sooner than we think.

Any United Nations effort to get Israel out of Egypt were in the realm of Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold's "quiet diplomacy." Israel Ambassador Abba S. Eban put his case before Hammarskjold in a 2½ hour session late Monday.

The situation was so delicate diplomatic sources said the General Assembly might be called back into session late this week to consider the Middle East situation again.

A United Press Cairo dispatch said Nasser and War Minister Maj. Gen. Abdel Hakim Amer "attended a discussion of military operations" held by the Egyptian chiefs of staff for three hours Monday and that they had been meeting for a week.

Communist Party in U. S. Is Really in 'Sad Shape'

By ROBERT E. JACKSON

(The first of three dispatches on the Communist Party in the United States.)

NEW YORK (UP) — The Communist Party is trying to convince you that it is not a puppet of the Soviet Union or a menace to America.

It will unveil this week end in New York a new "red-white-and-blue" look at the first national convention in six years.

The American people will be asked then to believe that the party no longer takes orders from Moscow, that today it is an independent movement of "national" Communists, still opposed to capitalism, but dedicated to debate and democracy.

"We are American Communists —patriots," said the 23,000-word draft resolution, a self-whipping confession of past errors and guileless statement of future tactics, prepared for approval by the Feb. 9-12 convention.

"Nobody tells me what to think," a Communist official told a United Press reporter in a cubbyhole conversation which he said was wire-tapped.

"Nobody gives us orders," said the party newspaper, the Daily Worker.

"There are various roads to socialism—not just the Soviet way —said the party.

Denounce Stalin

Communists have denounced the brutalities of the late Soviet premier and hero, Josef Stalin. They have assailed the bloody repression and shooting of workers by Soviet troops in Hungary.

They have argued with each other.

When aging party Chairman William Z. Foster defended the "grim necessity" of Soviet intervention to prevent "Fascism" in Hungary, Daily Worker labor reporter Herbert Singer wrote:

"If there is a 'grim necessity' it is that American Communists understand that they cannot take a serious step toward establishing a new basis for socialism . . . if they condone or justify the Soviet actions in Hungary."

For months behind the forbidden doors of floors six and seven of a sandstone building on Manhattan's lower West Side, party leaders have been painting on the new face which will make no attempt to disguise their crisis.

Is it just a mask to avoid further prosecution and to confuse the public?Or is it a sincere break from Kremlin domination? Is it a change of pace or heart?

That is one of the few secrets the Communists still harbor from the vigilant eyes and long shadows of the FBI. The answers to those questions are a matter of interpretation.

Shift In Tactics

The FBI, the Department of Justice, American labor leaders and many specialists on Communist affairs say that the image of "independence" is merely a carefully arranged shift in tactics—a sham. Moscow still calls the signals.

On one point there is no argument. The party is in sad shape.

Eleven of the top 12 party leaders were convicted in 1949 and jailed in 1951 under the Smith Act for conspiring to teach and advocate the overthrow of the U.S government. Chairman Foster escaped trial due to illness. Five of the 11 are now free.

Under the 1940 Smith Act, 145 Communists have been tried in 18 processes, and 103 have gone to jail. The testimony of 27 undercover agents of the FBI who penetrated the party sealed the fate of many.

The Smith Act convictions, the exposure of 733 Communist-front publications and organizations, the deportation of subversives, the campaign against security risks—the party itself lists these as the acts which crippled it.

Undermined Themselves

But American Communists, with an able assist from the Soviet Union, undermined themselves by slavishly following the Kremlin line.

The Communist invasion of Korea, the disclosure of Soviet spy networks, the flip-flop on Stalin, the Soviet cruelty in Hungary led successively to thousands of desertions. And no new blood is coming in. The overwhelming majority of the American public long ago discredited the party.

In this critical situation, party comrades have turned on Russia and each other. It may sound like a free-swinging debate, but Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell warned in a memo to President Eisenhower:

"The Communists now propose a new change in the party line, seeking to divert public attention by now claiming allegiance to the United States and purpotting to sever their ties with the Soviet Union.

"They will fool no one by this tactic. So long as Communist dictatorships threaten the peace of the world, the Communists and their agents will remain a serious threat to our internal security."

Three Named to Nieman Board

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UP) — Harvard University has named three newspapermen to serve on the selection committee for 1957-58 Nieman Fellowships.

They are Barry Bingham, editor of the Louisville, (Ky.) Courier-Journal, Alfred Friendly, managing editor of the Washington Post and Times Herald, and John M. Harrison, editorial writer of the Toledo (Ohio) Blade.

Symphony Opens Southern Tour In Cumberland

CUMBERLAND, W. Va. (UP)— The Pittsburgh Symphony played the opening engagement of a long Southern tour here Monday night and drew repeated ovations from a capacity audience of 1,600 persons.

Conductor William Steinberg took nine curtain calls and the orchestra played two encores.

J. William Hunt, editor and music critic of the Sunday Times, said the orchestra was "particularly excellent" in its renditions of the Overture to Smetana's The Bartered Bride, Strauss' Don Juan and Tschaikowsky's Overture to Romeo and Juliet.

The concert was given in the Allegany High School auditorium.

The orchestra left today for engagements at Blacksburg and Roanoke, Va. It will play in 31 cities, including seven engagements in Florida, on its six weeks tour of the South.

Somoza Opponent Concedes Election

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UP) — Edmundo Amador, opposition presidential candidate, conceded defeat Monday to Luis Somoza in the election to succeed his assassinated father, Anastasio Somoza.

Latest incomplete returns gave the 35-year-old Somoza 316,998 votes to 38,180 for Amador. The election was held Sunday.

Hungary Sealing Its Borders

VIENNA (UP) — Communist Hungary sealed its border with Marshal Tito's Yugoslavia today and ordered mixed patrols of Hungarian and Russian soldiers to shoot anyone trying to escape.

Budapest Radio announced that five counties along the border had been declared a prohibited area and could be entered only with special documents.

The radio broadcast an Interior Ministry announcement which said "thousands of persons" have appeared in the border zone recently with the obvious intention of crossing illegally into Yugoslavia.

"This has endangered the security of the country, and the security forces therefore have received orders to close traffic in the Yugoslav border zone," the announcement said.

More than 16,000 Hungarians have fled to Yugoslavia since the start of the revolution in October. More than 170,000 others have crossed into Austria.

Refugees reaching Austria in the last 24 hours reported security precautions also have been increased along the Austrian border. They said they saw bodies of several refugees who had been shot by border guards in their escape attempts.

The border crackdowns followed a public admission by Premier Janos Kadar that anti-Communist elements, particularly school children and university students, are continuing to resist his regime.

THE UNITED STATES, CYPRUS AND THE U N.

"There can be no peace without law. And there can be no law if we were to invoke one code of international conduct for those who oppose us—and another for our friends."

President Dwight D. Eisenhower, Oct. 31, 1956.

Our Nation is faced, on the Cyprus issue, with a problem similar to that which brought forth the above statement by our President. The Cyprus Question will be discussed in the near future in the United Nations and we will be called upon to vote on the petition of the Cypriotes for their application of the principle of self-determination to their island. The problem is what course of action best serves American interests.

"THE ROOT OF THE PROBLEM"

The Cyprus Question must be viewed in the light of a developing afnd evolving American foreign policy for several decades to come. Mr. James Reston, distinguished head of The New York Times Washington Bureau, has stressed in his perceptive articles that the over-all major problem facing the United States is "to create a new system of security to replace the old colonial system" (March 11, 1956) and that "the Middle East crisis is merely one more effect of the collapse of British and French power in the world" (Jan. 6, 1957).

The problem of replacing the old colonial system with a new security arrangement does not mean the substitution of American colonialism for British and French colonialism. Mr. Walter Lippmann, distinguished foreign analyst, has pointed out that Britain's old role of controlling military and political power "No longer exists for any one to play" (N. Y. Herald Tribune, Jan. 3, 1957). In the century ahead we must rid ourselves of old habits; no longer can we think in terms of trying to contain the forces of nationalism within the framework of colonialism. Britain's foreign policy is dominated by economic considerations; the United States, with her economic abundance, is free to forge a coatlition composed of free and responsible national states drawn from both Europe and the East.

ANGLO-AMERICAN RELATIONS

The Suez debacle showed conclusively that a military solution to the problem of nationalism is both immoral and impossible. It showed us dramatically that the security peace and freedom of the United tSates rests on our ability to channel the forces of nationalism, as responsible national states, into their rightful place in the community of nations. More is needed than Anglo-American unity if we are to successfully weather the gales of nationalism which stem from and have caused the decline of Europe in world politics. Britain, of course, has an important role to play! but it is decidedly not the role she has played in the past and is playing now. In the wake of her Suez adventure, Britain is herself assessing the changes in her position that have taken place in the last six months and is planning for the future. As Mr. Reston has stated, "Before long the British will be cutting their overseas military and financial commitments to fit their new role of a secondary military power" (Jan. 6, 1957).

THE UNITED STATES AND CYPRUS

Cyprus, far from being an embarrassment, presents our Nation with a distinctive opportunity; it enables us to show that the words of President Eisenhower, quoted above, spoken at the time of the Sŭez crisis, embody a wholehearted commitment to the principles of justice and liberty. A vote in favor of the UN resolution for the self-determination of Cyprus would be a strong confirmation to the world of our revitalized anti-colonialism. The President's statement of the Middle East (N. Y. Times, Jan. 6, 1957) amplified our Nation's traditional concern for the weak and oppressed:

"The occasion has come for us to manifest again our national unity in support of freedom and to show our deep respect for the rights and independence of every nation—however great, however small."

Cyprus can become an embarrassment only if we fail to seize the opportunity it offers to give concrete expression to our recent declarations. Failure to support those declarations would give them a hollow ring and would result in the loss of much, if not all, of our new hard-won prestige as a friend of the Asian- African nations. With the spotlight of the world upon us, we can ill afford to temporize on an issue which is so crucial to so much of the world.

TOUGH-MINDED IDEALISM

Our over-all policy should be one of tough-minded idealism. On all colonial issues we should put the burden of proof on the colonial power to justify its rule. Such a policy would provide the needed flexibility for those situations where the people are truly backward. It should be clear that the more people who have a stake in freedom the greater the security of the United States and the greater the chance for genuine and lasting peace. The historic example of our Philippine and Puerto Rico policy should be our guide. We alone of the great nations have no stake in colonialism and thus no fear of freedom.

Abraham Lincoln characterized our Declaration of Independence as meaning "liberty not alone to the people of this country, but hope for the world for all future time." The drama of the past months demonstrates that the concept of freedom is our greatest weapon. The leason for our Nation is that we must never again risk losing our identification with freedom and justice. We must always be the rallying point for the aspirations of mankind and be ready to challenge any and all violations of human liberty and dignity.

Brownie Troop Plans Special Activities Here

Girls of Belle Vernon Brownie Troop 26 met at the Little House on Saturday afternoon with the leader, Mrs. Olga Miller, in charge assisted by the co-leader, Mrs. Melba Woods.

The business meeting was conducted by the Patrol Leaders, Sharon Myers and Linda Scanlon.

Kay Strenske and Janelle Williams collected the Juliet Low fund.

The remainder of the time was spent in planning for special activities. The girls practiced for their part in the program to be presented at the Brownie Mother-Daughter banquet to be held at the First Methodist Church.

The girls wrote the invitations, which they will send to their mothers to the investiture ceremonies, which will be held in the Little House next Saturday afternoon at 12:30.

Sandy Pupilli and Nancy Miller, two former members of the troop, who now belong to Intermediate Girl Scout Troop 6, assisted the girls in preparing the invitations.

There were two guests present, Rose Mary Costa and Patty Costello. On the clean-up committee were Linda Scanlon, Janelle Williams and Sharon Wasicek.

Indian Taps concluded the meeting.

Special Parties Are Concluded

A series of special car parties, which were conducted by members of the Tuesday Evening Civic Club all last week, has successfully concluded.

There were several parties held in the homes of the various members with other club members serving as the committee in charge.

A prize was given to the high score holder at each table and a hostess prize was awarded in each home.

The ways and means chairmen, Mrs. Maynard Jesick, Mrs. William Kioski and Mrs. Thomas Jesick planned the parties along with the president, Mrs. Anthony Jedrziewski. The proceeds of the affairs will be used to meet the club budget in supporting the various club projects.

Mr. and Mrs. Sanders Farkas, of Belle Vernon, have received word that their son, Richard, who is stationed at Bremerhaven, Germany, with the Air Force has been advanced to A-1-C.

John Gillo, of Fairhope, who underwent surgery in the Montefiore Hospital, Pittsburgh, has returned to his home. He is getting along nicely, but will be confined to his home for some time.

The Belle Vernon Women of the Moose will meet this evening in regular session in the Moose Home. Executive session will be at 7 p.m. and lodge at 7:30.

Mrs. David Snyder and children, of Lynnwood, plan to leave this week to join their husband and father, who has accepted a position in New York. The Snyders are former residents of Speer street.

The celebrated mountain of Japan, Fujiyama, is visible far out to sea. Its crater is 500 feet deep and about two and one half miles in circumference.

Degree of Honor Officers Installed Here on Friday

Officers were installed for the new term at the Friday evening meeting of the Degree of Honor Protective Association. Installing officer was Mrs. Jennie I. Henry, of Pittsburgh, national treasurer of the lodge. She also serves as regional director.

Assiting with the installation were Mrs. Olive West, of Homestead, second vice president and Mrs. Isabelle Franks, of Uniontown, state past president.

The escort staff was comprised of a delegation of women from the Brownsville lodge.

Mrs. Ina Crow was installed for her second consecutive term as president, Mrs. Margaret Pascoe, past president; Mrs. Ethel Jarvis, vice president; Mrs. Sue LeComte, second vice president; Mrs. Gladys Bakewell, financial secretary; Mrs. Myrtle Sharrock, recording secretary; Mrs. Bertha Forsberg, usher; Mrs. Edith Panzo, assistant usher; Mrs. Elizabeth Morton, inner watch; Mrs. Georgia Curry, outer watch; Mrs. Lillian Henderson, right assistant to the vice president; Mrs. Cora Mills, left assistant to the vice president; Pauline Horrell, color bearer; Mrs. Mable Horrell, pianist; Betty Curry, treasurer.

Installed to the escort staff were Mrs. Dorothy Martin, Mrs. Zelma Kostelac, Mrs. Alice Smith and Mrs. Dorothy Lape.

After the ceremonies there were brief talks given by Mrs. Henry, Mrs. West and Mrs. Franks.

Donations were voted to the March of Dimes and to Children's Hospital, Pittsburgh.

During the social hour Sue LeComte won the guest prize and Betty Curry won the guest cake.

Luncheon was served by a committee comprised of Mrs. Alice Smith, Mrs. Forsberg, Mrs. Sharrock and Mrs. Pascoe.

The next lodge session will be Feb. 15.

Marion Canteen Dance on Friday

Regular Friday evening canteen dances will be resumed this week at the Marion Junior High School. The schedule was rearranged last week in order that a special dance could be conducted on Tuesday evening for both High School and Junior High School students.

The dance will be in the school gymnasium and to recorded music and this week it will be held for seventh, eighth and ninth grade students. It will be sponsored by the Washington Township Parent Teacher Association.

Sparkle Nine Club Winners Announced

Mrs. Ina Crow, of Main street, was hostess to members of the Sparkle Nine Club at her home recently, and two tables of cards were in play.

Winning the high score awards were Mrs. Helen Adams, Mrs. Jean Brazack and Mrs. Jennie Lehew. Other awards were won by Isabelle Cortina and Helen Adams.

Mrs. Crow was presented with a hostess gift from the group and plans were made to meet again at the home of Mrs. Clarice Cavanaugh.

Luncheon wasserved at the close of the evening.

Mrs. V. C. McCracken, of Scenery Hill, visited over the week end with her sisters, Mrs Ellen Davenport and Mrs. Louise Evans, of Belle Vernon.

A meeting of Girl Scout Leaders of Belle Vernon will be held on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the Little House on Speer street This is an important session since it is the final one before the Girl Scout and Brownie banquets to be held this month in the First Methodist Church.

Forty Hours of Devotion Ends This Evening

The Forty Hours of Devotion will conclude at St. Sebastian R. C. Church this evening at 7:30. A procession will be part of the solemn service and an invitation has been extended to the Holy Name Society members to take part.

In the closing procession will be the altar boys, the school children, visiting priests along with the Holy Name men and the three priests, the Rev. Henry Hanse, the Rev. Henry Murphy and the Rev. David Fisher.

The Forty Hours observance began on Sunday morning with a procession of altar boys, school children and priests and a 10:30 solemn high mass. At 8 p. m. on Sunday there were public devotions before the blessed sacrament.

Masses were conducted at 6:30 a. m., 7:30 a. m. and 9 a. m. on Monday and last night there was another 8 o'clock public devotion. A similar mass schedule was observed today.

Women's Benefit Officers in Charge

Mrs. Sara Quinn, who was installed as president of the Belle Vernon review of the Women's Benefit Association, the first meeting in January, was in charge of the Friday evening meeting of the review held in the Sons of Italy Hall.

All of the other new oficers assumed their duties and during the routine business session plans were for various future events.

Legion Auxiliary Card Party for March of Dimes

Another in the series of Thursday evening card parties has been announced for this week at the club room of the American Legion Home. It will be under the sponsorship of the American Legion Ladies Auxiliary, but will be promoted for a special purpose, to benefit the March of Dimes.

The party is open to the general public and all proceeds will be for the polio fund. Half of the proceeds will be contributed to the March of Dimes drive in North Belle Vernon and the other half will be given to the Belle Vernon collection.

Mrs. Inez Lehew, who is Belle Vernon "Dimes Chairman", is president of the Legion Ladies Auxiliary and is also general chairman of the card party. She will be assisted by a large committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Hamilton and family, of Morgantown, W. Va., visited over the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crow, of Main street and Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Crow, of Lynnwood.

Why once a year?

because the high quality, high fashion broadloom mills run their very best colors, types, patterns a whole year, then make moderate changes each January. They lighten or darken some colors, modify a scroll or leaf pattern here and there, make slight variations. Naturally, Melenyzer's keeps abreast of such changes, slight as they may be. But it means we must make space on our selling floors, on our warehouse racks as well, to receive 1957 rolls. That's why, as long as present yardage lasts you can buy Melenyzer's best selling, remaining 1956 broadlooms —in all their glorious colors and patterns — at sizeable reductions. Study this list, then come in ready to save.

Italy Expecting to Have Population of 50 Million This Year

ROME (UP)—By the end of 1957 Italy's population should be 50,000,000, according to the Statistical Bureau.

A booklet entitled "Italy 1955" reported that at the end of December, 1955, the population was 49,200,000 and that by the end of 1956 it should be 49,630,000.

If the recent rate of annual increase continues in 1957, at the end of that year there will be some 50,000,000 Italians, twice the population of 1861.

The official statistics further revealed that 867,000 babies were born in Italy during 1955, while 445,000 people died in the same period.

The average age of Italians 50 years ago was 28 years, five months; to-day it is 32.

The booklet did not give fresh figures on the number of the working Italian population. Last figures available are those of the 1951 census which said that 19,600,000 Italians were engaged in all categories of employment.

Working males numbered 14,700,000; the female working population was 4,900,000.

Italians not included in the working population are children, students, old people, the infirm, soldiers and women housekeepers.

Of the male workers, 6,228,000 were doing jobs connected with the land. This the booklet said, accounted for the slow economic development of the country.

Investments

However, the number of such workers is diminishing, while the number of men working on non-agricultural jobs is increasing.

Regarding unemployment, the booklet said the last census of the labor forces revealed there were 1,500,000 unemployed, of which 616,000 were youngsters trying to get their first jobs.

Savings and investments went up during the last three years from $3,654,400,000 in 1953 to $3,982,400,000 in 1954 and $4,680,000,000 in 1955.

During 1955 money was invested in the following national activities: 25 per cent in building apartment houses, 19 per cent in public works and 56 per cent in machinery, industrial plants, gen- for agriculture.

Dartmouth Library Gets Ancient Globe

HANOVER, N. H. — (UP) The Baker Library at Dartmouth College has been presented one of the first terrestrial globes made in America.

The globe was made in 1811 by James Wilson of Bradford, Vt., who was inspired to become a globemaker after a brief visit to Dartmouth in 1799.

The farmer-blacksmith was 37 years old at the time and had little education, but with fierce determination he taught himself geography, astronomy and the intricate art of engraving on copper. Before he entered the field, all globes had been produced in England and were very expensive.

The globe presented to Dartmouth is of plaster, covered with an engraved paper map, and mounted on a simple wood frame.

Seven District Students Win Farmers Award

Seven district high school agriculture students won awards in the annual state-wide Future Farmers of America agricultural contest at Penn State University, according to James Hughes, superintendent of Westmoreland County schools.

The prize winners, five from Rostraver and two from South Huntingdon Township, were:

Richard Budd, of Rostraver, gold medal in the garden contest; Bob Markle, of Rostraver, bronze medal in the garden competition; Deane Lewis, of Rostraver, silver medal in the retail truck contest; Gene Gillick, of Rostraver, gold medal in the swine contest; Robert Patterson, of Rostraver, silver medal in the swine contest; George Oxegovich, of South Huntingdon, gold medal in the dairy contest and Dale Mills, of South Huntingdon, selections as a candidate for the Future Farmers of Amerca American Farmer degree.

Thomas Cocain, agriculture instructor at Rostraver, was also honored with the degree of Honorary Keystone Farmer.

British Tourism In 1956 Sets All-time High

LONDON — (UP) The British Travel & Holidays Association announced that Britain's tourist industry broke all records in 1956.

It estimated that about 1,100,000 overseas visitors came to the country last year. Earnings from this traffic, including fare payments to British shipping and air lines, are estimated to L174 million ($487,200,000).

Visitors from the United States numbered about 275,000 and their expenditures, including fare payments totalled L48 million ($134,400,000).

In 1956, Britain welcomed about 570,000 visitors from Europe, 58,000 from Canada, 160,000 from other Commonwealth countsies, and 37,000 from the rest of the world.

These figures, which are provisional, represent a large increase over the 1955 totals. In 1955, Britain attracted 1,037,000 visitors, about 250,000 of whom came from America and 53,000 from Canada.

The unsettled international situation had little effect upon Britain's late-season tourist traffic. In November almost 46,000 overseas visitors came to Britain, only two per cent under the November 1955, total of 47,000.

The British Travel and Holidays Association is expecting an overall increase of about five per cent in traffic this year, giving a total of 1,160,000 visitors and earnings estimated at L190 million ($532,000,000).

The cubic measurement use in ancient Egypt was approximately the length of a man's arm from elbow to the end of the middle finger.

Army Gets Technical

The Army has come up with a program that has opportunity knocking not once, but more than a hundred and fifty times, according to M-Sgt. Phil Columbus, local Army recruiting representative.

Directed to the high school senior and recent graduates, Sergent Columbus said this "reserved for you" program gives qualified applicants the choice of more than 150 technical course before they enlist for the regular army.

If all requirements are met and a vacancy exists in one of the desired courses, the young man or women applying will be signed up for an Army enlistment — with a written guarantee of class enrollment in hand.

The applicant is not obligated to enlist even after he or she has been accepted for the program. The decision to take the technical course is still his to make. If the applicant chooses to enlist, he goes into the army with a career reservation.

Sergeant Columbus said that there is schooling to lead specialization in practically every field of interest.

School catalogue listing all of the 150 courses, said the Army recruiting sergeant, is available at the local Army recruiting station, located at 628 Fallowfield avenue, above the Army-Navy store, next door to the Post Office in Charleroi or call HUdson 3-8200.

Geiger Counter Seen As Farm Necessity

WORCESTER, Mass. — (UP) Some day in the not distant future every American farmer will have his own geiger counter to measure radiation in the event of an atomic bomb attack.

That's the prediction of Guy W. Mann, director of the New England Livestock Association.

He said the only way a farmer could tell is his animals and their products were contaminated by radio-active fallout would be to monitor them with a geiger counter.
